NOTIFICATION.

The 27th March 1883.—The following rules regarding salt, on which duty has not been paid, conveyed under bond from Chittagong to Naraingunge, having been approved by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, are published for general information.

A. P. MACDONNELL,
Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

Rules for the removal of non-duty-paid salt under bond to Naraingunge from boardship or from bond at Chittagong.

AN application in writing, specifying the name, tonnage, and master's name of the vessel intended to convey salt under bond for Naraingunge, must be made to the Collector of Customs, Chittagong, 24 hours previous to the time at which it is intended to commence loading.

2. Non-duty-paid salt may be conveyed under bond from Chittagong to Naraingunge by such vessels only as are approved by the Collector of Customs, Chittagong. Each vessel must carry a special pass in the annexed form under the signature of the Collector of Customs, Chittagong, covering the consignment of salt shipped by it.

3. The salt when placed on board such vessels must be stamped all over and conveyed under sealed hatches. Both the seals on the hatches and the stamps on the salt as reported on clearance by the Collector of Customs at Chittagong shall be separately examined and reported on by the salt darogah to the Collector of Customs, Naraingunge, on receipt o whose orders on the darogah's reports the seals may be broken and the salt weighed.

4. Salt on which duty has not been paid can only be removed from Chittagong under a bond to be executed by the bonder prior to the departure of the vessel or vessels conveying such salt. The bond shall be in the form appended to these rules, and shall state that the salt will arrive at Naraingunge within twenty-one days from the granting of the port clearance during the north-east monsoon (i. e., from the 16th September to the 30th April) or within fifteen days from the date of the granting of port clearance during the south-west monsoon, (i. e., from the 1st May to the 15th September). Port clearance shall not be granted till after the due execution of the bond and after the quantities entered in the tally books have been found to agree with those entered in the manifest (or cargo books) of such vessel or vessels. Single bonds may be accepted for any quantity of salt not exceeding 20,000 maunds, and shall cover all the vessels being loaded with the quantity of salt for which the bond in each case is given; and such vessels must, in each case, be named in the bond. The number and date of the bond is to be noted in the pass which accompanies each vessel, and in the copies of the pass retained by the Collector of Customs, Chittagong, and forwarded to the Collector of Customs, Naraingunge, respectively.

5. The vessel on arrival at Naraingunge shall be anchored as close as possible to the ghât leading to the warehouse in which the salt is to be stored, or at the nearest moorings to such ghât.

6. The weighment of the salt shall be made in the presence of the salt darogah, and a Customs peon shall invariably remain with the salt until the weighment shall have been completed. Weighment of the salt shall be made, as a general rule, on board the importing vessel. It will, however, be competent to the Board, on sufficient cause being shown, to permit the salt of any bonder to be weighed after removal to the shore, under such suitable precautions, to be taken at the sole expense of the bonder, as may be prescribed by the Collector of Customs, Naraingunge, and approved by the Board.

7. The salt shall be stored in a licensed warehouse immediately the weighment shall have been made. The door of the warehouse shall have two locks; the key of one lock (which must be a Chubb's lock) shall remain with the darogah, and the key of the other with the bonder's agent.

8. The bonder will be required to defray the cost of the preventive officers and all charges attendant on the weighing of the salt, both at Chittagong and Naraingunge, such weighments being conducted as laid down in the Board's rules for weighing salt intended for bond at Chittagong.

9 Both Customs officers and the exporter's agent will be required to certify at the end of each day's weighments the correctness of the tally book for that day's work.

10. The working hours with regard to delivery and weighment of salt shall be from 6 A.M. to 3 P.M., or such others hours as may be fixed from time to time by the Collector of Customs with the approval of the Commissioner.

11. If from any cause the weighments cannot be completed in one day, extra peons as may be considered necessary by the Collector of Customs shall be appointed to guard the salt, the cost being borne by the bonder.

12. When the discharge of salt from shipboard at Chittagong for conveyance under bond to Naraingunge is interrupted, or not completed, such quantity as has been actually delivered at the time of interruption shall be covered by a Customs boat-note. The salt so delivered must also be completely stamped over, and the hatches and all access to the hold must be sealed by Customs seals, to be examined by the night Customs Inspector, who must record his report of each such inspection.

13. The owner of the salt shall be required to pay full duty on any difference between the quantity of salt weighed over the ship's side or out of bond at Chittagong and the quantity weighed out of the brig or steamer at Naraingunge, less an allowance of one per cent. for wastage during the passage, if such wastage actually occurs.

14. On arrival at Naraingunge the salt shall be immediately bonded under proper supervision, the duty on the warehousing bill-of-entry being calculated on the whole quantity delivered on weighment from the vessel or vessels covered by the bond. As salt is cleared from bond, the quantity as entered in the clearance bill-of-entry will be noted on the warehousing bill-of-entry and duty paid accordingly. When the last quantity of salt under each bond is cleared, the bonder shall make good the deficiency, if any, between the amount of duty originally entered in the warehousing bill-of-entry and the total amounts of duty paid, less an allowance, on account of wastage, if such wastage has actually occurred, which shall not exceed 2½ per cent on the whole quantity warehoused.

15. In addition to the above rules, the rules contained in sections VIII to X of the Salt Manual shall apply generally to all salt conveyed under bond from Chittagong and warehoused at Naraingunge.

16. It is to be understood also that before permission can be given to transport salt to Naraingunge under bond, the bonder will be required to construct a suitable warehouse at Naraingunge, to be approved and licensed by the Collector, together with suitable accommodation for the warehouse establishment, also to be approved by the Collector. He will also be required to enter into an engagement with the Collector to defray the cost to Government of the establishment noted in the margin, which will be appointed by the Collector for the guard and supervision of the warehouse.

	Rs.
1 Darogah on	50
2 Peons, at Rs. 6 each	12

TASAR SERICULTURE IN THE BOMBAY PRESIDENCY.

No. 2, dated Poona, the 14th February 1883.

From—MAJOR G. COUSSMAKER, Superintendent, Government Photozincographic Office,

To—The Secretary to Government, General Department.

I HAVE the honour to submit, for the consideration of Government, the progress made in tasar sericulture in this Presidency during the past year. This is the last report which I shall make on the subject, as I am about to leave India for good, and I regret to have to state that I cannot recommend Government to continue these experiments, as there seems very little prospect of their proving remunerative, owing to three causes :—

(1.) A very large supply of wild silk is now exported from China, and the price of "tasar waste" has in consequence fallen to 1*s.* 3*d.* per lb. in England.

(2.) The tasar cocoons of the Bombay Presidency are smaller and contain less silk than those found in other parts of India.

(3.) The expense of collecting the cocoons, or of rearing the worms in a state of semi-domestication, as I have done, is great.

2. My collection this year consists of—

12,800 received from revenue officials and other sources.
6,553 ditto the forest officials.
5,678 reared by myself.

Total ... 25,031 cocoons weighing 57¼lbs.

3. My plantation has been largely increased. It now consists of several hedges of Lagerstroomia measuring in all 1,500 feet, while of Zizyphus there are 300 feet.

4. My expenditure during the year amounted to Rs. 168-13-9, to which is to be added the sum of Rs. 67-10-5 not included in last year's account, as mentioned in paragraph 9 of my letter No. 2 of 3rd February 1882. The detailed account of these sums, amounting to Rs. 236-8-2, has as usual been submitted to the Accountant-General, leaving Rs. 263-7-10 unexpended out of the Rs. 500 received.

5. In paragraph 4 of my No. 2 of 3rd February 1882, I mentioned that I had sent home to Mr. Wardle the collections which I had made in two years. He sold these cocoons, weighing altogether 197lbs., to Messrs. Clayton, Marsdens and Co., of Halifax, at 1*s.* 3*d.* per lb., and sent me the money which amounted to Rs. 146-14-0. The spinners report that "the fibre from these cocoons is somewhat coarser than most tasar waste, and the cocoons have been opened; but this is not a serious drawback to its spinning qualities. China is now sending over such large quantities that the price of tasar waste is very low."

6. I do not think that the cocoons can be collected from the forests at a cheaper rate than 4 annas per hundred, and this is too high to admit of any profit. The collections made have fallen off considerably, and it is only through the personal exertions of the officers and the guards of the Forest Department that I have received as many as I have. I found the same thing myself when I was out in the districts. In whatever village I was encamped, I could get the children to collect for me; but the price was not high enough to induce men to leave their ordinary work and look for cocoons. The village trader took no interest at all in the matter.

7. I have tried, nearly every year, to increase the size of the cocoon, by importing some of the large variety from Sambalpur, Yamtasa, Manbhoom, &c., but with no success. The moths have paired readily with the small Deccan variety, the worms have hatched out, but there has been no difference in the cocoons, and I believe that the climate is the unsurmountable obstacle, though perhaps the difference of food may be another cause.

8. As far as quantity is concerned, the result of rearing the tasar silk-worm in semi-domestication is most satisfactory. I have now been able to gather within 6 weeks 3 cocoons per running foot of hedge. My first worm, this last season, was hatched on 9th May, and the first cocoon was gathered in 32 days time. Of this particular batch of worms I took careful notes; they numbered 380, and 347 of them spun cocoons, commencing on 7th June and ending on the 24th idem. They consumed 110 running feet of hedge, a few feet of which consisted of cuttings that had been kept growing for a twelve-month; but the greater part of their existence was spent on a Lagerstroemia hedge, which on the 1st May had been cut down to 2 feet in height, cleared of every twig and vestige of a leaf, irrigated every third day, and enclosed within tarred screens of split bamboo, over which a coarse cotton covering had been stretched on rattan hoops; as fast as this hedge was eaten off, it sprouted again, and by the time the worms had reached the far end, the new shoots on the first tree were covered with leaves.

9. Of the 1,800 feet of Lagerstroemia and Zizyphus which I have now got, one half was sufficiently grown to yield a steady supply of food, and off this extent of hedges I gathered in May-October 5,678 cocoons; but, as in former years, I noticed that only 50 per cent. of these were sound and perfectly formed, and these were almost all gathered before the end of July Later in the season I lost, without any apparent cause, many hundreds of worms in all stages; some being the progeny of moths of the former year and some of this under review. Still there were many cocoons spun, some of which were very fine; but the majority were weak and thin.

10. The above fact tallies with what I have noticed in my former partial experiments; with what I gather from the letters which I have received during the last 7 years; and with what appears in the various printed reports on tasar sericulture, i. e. no reliance can be placed upon any but the first crop of the season, the progeny, that is, of moths which have rested during the cold and hot seasons on their cocoons, and which emerge early in the monsoon when the first showers of rain fall. Throughout the whole monsoon, and often at other times when disturbed, the moths continue to appear, but with an unsatisfactory result, and there is much loss of life. Enough cocoons are spun to ensure a supply of seed cocoons for the next season, it is true, but not enough to call a crop.

11. My collections comprise these late cocoons as well as those of the early crop, and in cleaning all that I have prepared for the manufacturers I have rigorously discarded everything but silk. The exuviæ of caterpillars and chrysalides, leaves and twigs of trees, have all been extracted. Partly on this account and partly because the tasar cocoon is naturally small in the Bombay Presidency, I find that the average number of clean cocoons in one pound is 436.

12. My method of protecting the worms and ensuring a steady supply of food is most effective. The labour bill is reduced to a minimum; one woman and one boy can easily look after an acre of hedge if not more, and keep the enclosures in repair; but it must be borne in mind that if the monsoon does not break early and heavy, it will be necessary to water the hedges, and also the expense of enclosing is so very heavy, that as long as the price of tasar keeps low this system cannot with profit be followed. In the neighbourhood of dwellings crows, sparrows, squirrels, and rats will collect and must be kept out; this I succeeded in doing with material always available in India, but it is an expensive process. I used bamboo, buying it and making it up into chicks or screens at Rs. 2 per 100 square feet; rattans, of which 10½ feet weigh one pound, at Rs. 3 per lb.; coarse cotton cloth at

Rs. 2-2 per 11 running yards; iron rods, 2 inches in circumference, at Rs 4 per 100 feet; common country string and tar; but at these rates the enclosing of an acre of hedge costs an initial outlay of Rs. 3,915-12, with a yearly expenditure of Rs. 300 to keep it in repair, and at the present price of tasar waste only Rs. 23 can be expected from the 20,205 cocoons which an acre of hedge would yield I am here calculating for the one good crop which would only be on the ground or rather on the hedge between 1st May and 31st July; but the land would for 9 months of the year be available for other crops. Perhaps some other experimentalist will be able to hit upon a cheaper method of enclosing.

13. I have only attempted the collection of tasar waste; it is most probable that the production of perfect dry cocoons ready for the reeler, or reeled raw silk may be more remunerative; but the first problem I set myself was "how to procure a steady supply," and until I had solved that I had determined not to attempt anything more. Ten years ago Messrs. Lister & Co., of Bradford, in a letter to me on the subject, wrote: "it will pay you best to let all the moths fly and sell the burst cocoons." I think that it is apparent from what I have mentioned already in this report that the production of burst cocoons, i.e., tasar waste, will not pay. With reference to the other forms in which tasar may be brought into the market, I can only relate what experts have told me:—

(1.) The preparation of whole cocoons for the reeler. The chrysalides inside the cocoons must be thoroughly dried as well as killed; they are very large and contain much fatty matter, so it will be difficult to desiccate them without spoiling the silk. Spinners in England have informed me that one serious drawback to Indian tasar was its offensive smell, which in all probability arose from its having been reeled off putrefying chrysalides. The workmen in consequence were not inclined to take much pains with material which was often foul and disagreeable to handle.

(2.) In reeling raw tasar silk it must be borne in mind that the fibre is naturally flat with a twist in it, not round like that of the mulberry silk, and the consequence is that any carelessness in twisting, or in varying, the number of cocoons, at once makes a marked difference in the thread of the skein. So carelessly done is the work in India that the silk spinners showed me a considerable quantity which they had had to re throw, and said that so much time was taken up in sorting the skeins, and, as then happened to be the case, in re-reeling, that the price was lower than it should be properly, seeing that such beautiful and costly fabrics are made from it.

I do not profess to lay down any rules for carrying out these two phases of tasar industry successfully; they can only be worked out by experiments based on enquiries made from the manufacturers. All that I have done is to work out the natural history of the insect; and as my experiments progressed, feeling dubious as to the pecuniary value of the cocoons, I have ever declined to encourage the idea of starting a company, or of soliciting Government to devote any large sum of money, or to give up any land to the formation of a plantation.

14. I take this opportunity of putting on record some information which Mr. Wardle has kindly placed at my disposal regarding the bleaching of tasar silk. It is well known that the great objection to this silk was its natural colour and reputed inability to take dye satisfactorily. Mr. Wardle has made a persistent series of experiments to overcome these defects, and informs me that he has now perfectly succeeded, and there will always be a demand for clean, evenly reeled tasar silk thus bleached. His method is as follows:—Mix in water well impregnated with soft soap, carbonate of soda crystals equal in weight to one-quarter of the silk to be bleached, and immersing the silk, boil it for a little more than half an hour. Then wash it thoroughly first in hot and afterwards in cold water until it is perfectly clean. Next put it into a narrow deep vessel, and having added a few drops of ammonia to the liquid peroxide of hydrogen so as to make it alkaline, pour it over the silk until it completely covers it. The silk while undergoing this treatment must be kept perfectly in the dark, and if the peroxide does not remain alkaline, a little more ammonia must be added. Keep the silk in this state for 24 hours, then heat up the mixture, till its temperature reaches 120°-130° Fahr., and let it remain at this heat for 12 hours, when it will be found that the silk has become bleached.

He also gives the following instructions for preparing peroxide of hydrogen:—mix one part of hydrochloric acid with six parts of water. Add to this very gradually very finely powdered Barium dioxide (commercial), until the acid is almost neutralized. Stir the liquid all the time, taking care not to add the Barium quickly for fear of raising the temperature. Next, add Baryta water, a concentrated solution of Barium monoxide, to the mixture. At first a dirty-looking brown precipitate will be formed, showing that the oxides of iron or other metals which exist as impurities in the commercial Barium dioxide are being got rid of. In a short time, carefully watching through the sides of the glass vessel in which you are making the preparation, you will see that a white precipitate is beginning to form; directly this appears, pour off the liquid into a clean glass vessel, filtering it at the time and continue to add the Baryta water very gradually, as long as any precipitate forms; you can tell when this stops by taking a drop out, and adding Baryta water to it: if it has no effect you will see that no more precipitate will fall in the bulk.

Let the white crystalline precipitate stand for a short time, and then pouring off the liquid add a little pure water, and pour off that also. Repeat this operation several times, so as to be sure that the precipitate is throughly cleansed, adding less and less water each time till the pure precipitate alone remains.

Take 7 or 8 parts of pure water and one of the purest sulphuric acid available, mix them and let them get perfectly cool.

When quite cool, add the white precipitate very gradually until the mixture is neutralized, great care being taken to let the precipitate fall in slowly and uniformly to settle at the bottom of the vessel. If the liquid be at all discoloured, filter it again. This makes the pure solution of peroxide of hydrogen, which must be decanted into stone jars and put away till wanted in a cool dark place.

15. As mentioned in paragraph I of this report, I have now wound up my series of experiments, having year by year reported on what I have learnt, and can only regret that the conclusion is so very adverse to the prospect of the tasar silk industry in this Presidency, and now thanking Government for their patience in allowing me to continue this very interesting study. I solicit instructions as to what is to be done with the balance remaining in my hands, which is

Rs.	A.	P.
263	7	10	Cash remaining as per paragraph 4.
146	14	0	Money received for 197 lbs. as per paragraph 5.
28	10	0	Value of 57¼ lbs. as per paragraph 2.
438	15	10

16. I have calculated the value of these cocoons according to the price which I received for the 197lbs. sent home last year, deducting the expenditure on account of freight, baling, &c., and if Government does not object, I propose to purchase them myself, take them with me to England, and have them worked up in some form for my own use.

17. I have asked the Superintendent of the Central Jail, Yeroda, to take over my plantation of Lagerstroemia and Zizyphus bushes, together with the bamboo screens, iron rods, &c., which I used for my enclosures, as there is land attached to the jail in which the bushes might be planted, the Head Jailor also having always taken an interest in these experiments. I also ask the Conservator of Forests, Northern Division, from whom I have always received great assistance to direct his assistants, to send any cocoons which they may collect to Yeroda. A very little expenditure in water labour will suffice to keep the plants in good health, and, as they will continue growing, will be available for any future experiments which may be made. If no other use be made of them, they can be planted as hedges in the garden, and as they bear a profusion of beautiful lilac flowers, and when kept trimmed break most luxuriantly into leaf, they will form an ornamental as well as an useful addition to the garden.

RULES REGULATING THE SUBMISSION OF ADDRESSES TO THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

No. 12—408-24.

Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India, in the Home Department (Public),—under date Fort William, the 16th March 1883.

RESOLUTION.

INCONVENIENCE having been found to result in some cases from the absence of any distinct rules regulating the submission by public bodies of addresses to the Government of India, the Governor-General in Council considers it desirable to prescribe a procedure for general observance.

*Letter to British Indian Association, Calcutta, No. 2001 of 3 st October 1872.

The following rules are in accordance with principles laid down by the Government* of India in 1872 :—

I.—An address, the sole or principal object of which is to promote or oppose a measure of Imperial legislation, or one which bears immediately upon general questions of Imperial policy, may be submitted direct to the Governor-General in Council.

II.—When the object of an address is to induce the Governor-General to give his assent to, or to withhold his assent from, a law passed by a Provincial Legislature, it should be transmitted through the Local Government concerned.

III.—An address intended to obtain the reversal of an executive act, or one which bears directly upon the executive action of a Local Government, should be transmitted through the Local Government in respect of whose action complaint is made. This procedure should be followed in all cases in which the jurisdiction to be exercised by the Government of India is of an appellate character or necessarily involves a reference to the Local Government.

IV.—In the case of an address relating to a law passed by a Provincial Legislature, it will be convenient that a copy of the address should simultaneously be sent to the Governor-General. In other cases it will be at the option of the writers to send direct to the Government of India duplicates of representations submitted to the Local Government.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Government of Bombay with reference to the letter from that Government, No. 11, dated 3rd January 1883, and to the other* Local Governments and Administrations for information and publication in local Gazettes; that a copy be forwarded to the several Departments of the Government of India for information and guidance; and that the Resolution be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India for general information.

*Madras. Bengal. N.-W. Provs. & Oudh. Punjab. Central Provinces. British Burma. Assam. Coorg. Hyderabad.

(True Extract.)

A. MACKENZIE,
Secretary to the Government of India.

From—COLMAN MACAULAY, ESQ., Secretary to the Government of Bengal,
To—The Commissioner of the Bhagulpore Division and Sonthal Pergunnahs.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 354J, dated the 14th instant, in which you report that Mr. H. Dear has offered to pay the whole cost of the new dispensary building now in course of construction at Monghyr. The cost is estimated to amount to Rs. 20,000.

2. The proposal to establish a new dispensary at Monghyr was first brought forward in October last. On that occasion Mr. Dear made a munificent donation of Rs. 10,000 towards this object, for which he received the thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor. Mr. Dear has now offered to bear the entire cost of the building, and I am desired to request that you will be good enough to convey to him an expression of the satisfaction with which the Lieutenant-Governor has learnt this further proof of his liberality. The correspondence will be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

No. 354J, dated Bhagulpore, the 14th March 1883.

From—G. N. BARLOW, ESQ., C.S.I., Commissioner of the Bhagulpore Division,
To—The Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, Municipal Department.

WITH reference to your letter No. 913, dated the 23rd November last, I have the honour to report that Mr. Dear has since offered to pay the whole cost of the new dispensary building at Monghyr, estimated at Rs. 20,000.

2. To avoid delay, Mr. Dear was, at his request, allowed to commence the building himself on the accompanying plan approved of by the Civil Surgeon. The building has been rapidly pushed on, and will be completed very shortly.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

Report of Fluctuation of Traffic on the Eastern Bengal Railway for the month of January 1883

EASTERN BENGAL RAILWAY COMPANY, TRAFFIC SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE, SEALDAH TERMINUS.

No. W40-14, dated Calcutta, the 13th March 1883.

From—W IRVINE, ESQ., Traffic Superintendent, Eastern Bengal Railway Company,

To—The Agent, Eastern Bengal Railway Company.

I BEG to forward the usual comparative statement of traffic for the month of January last, from which it will be seen that the gross weight carried over the railway during that period was 10,51,879 maunds, or 5 per cent. over the figures for the corresponding period of 1882.

The principal fluctuations are as under—

Increases.

Coal and coke ... ... 12,809 Mds.

The whole of this increase is on traffic from Shamnagar for the Northern Bengal State and Darjeeling and Himalayan Railways.

Fibrous products (gunny-bags) ... ... 18,147 Mds.

This increase is on traffic from Northern Bengal State Railway. The abundant crop of the raw material and the low rates of freight in force has brought about this satisfactory result.

Hides and skins ... ... 2,863 Mds.

These were in good demand during the month for export, and the traffic in them was consequently stimulated.

Metals, and manufactures of ... ... 3,082 Mds.

During the month under review the Government were renewing the telegraph posts, &c., and the increase is entirely due to stores sent for that purpose.

Miscellaneous ... ... 47,221 Mds.

This increase is due to materials forwarded for the Bengal Central Railway at present under construction.

Salt ... ... 6,662 Mds.

This traffic has for a considerable time been declining, but again shows signs of improvement, principally from Damookdea and Kooshtea.

Decreases.

Cotton, manufactured ... ... 4,646 Mds.

This decrease is on piece-goods and is attributable to a dull market, there being no demand from up-country

Grain and pulse ... ... 49,370 Mds.

The decrease is partly due to a temporary cessation of this traffic from Calcutta and South-Eastern State Railway.

Jute, unscrewed ... ... 37,412 Mds.

Less do., screwed ... ... 13,378 „

Nett decrease ... 14,034 „

It will be observed that there is a large increase in "screwed jute" in consequence of the recent erection of several presses at Haldibari, &c. The decrease in unscrewed jute is accounted for by the heavy despatches in previous months.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL, GENERAL (MARINE) DEPARTMENT.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.—(No. 14.)

BAY OF BENGAL—GULF OF MARTABAN.

APPROACHES TO THE RANGOON RIVER.

Reported alteration of China Ba-keer Sands.

THE Port Officer, Rangoon, has notified that information has been received from the senior officer in charge of the pilot vessel Pharos of a material alteration in the position of the edge of the sand in the neighbourhood of the China Ba-keer Light-house.

The vessel, when approaching the light-house on a west-by-south direction on the last quarter flood, passed over a ridge with no soundings on it, the water thereafter shoaling quickly to 12 feet.

From examination, taken in connection with the evidence collected, it is believed that there is dangerously shoal water extending half a mile seaward of the light-house, and that there are dry sands where formerly there were 12 feet of water at lowest tides.

NOTE.—Mariners are hereby cautioned to give that part of the coast a wide berth.

By direction of the Government of Bengal,
J. MENTEITH BREBNER,
Offg. Port Officer of Calcutta.

[Third Publication.]

NOTIFICATION.

The 27th March 1883.—The following rules regarding salt, on which duty has not been paid, conveyed under bond from Chittagong to Naraingunge, having been approved by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, are published for general information.

A. P. MACDONNELL,
Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

Rules for the removal of non-duty-paid salt under bond to Naraingunge from boardship or from bond at Chittagong.

AN application in writing, specifying the name, tonnage, and master's name of the vessel intended to convey salt under bond for Naraingunge, must be made to the Collector of Customs, Chittagong, 24 hours previous to the time at which it is intended to commence loading.

2. Non-duty-paid salt may be conveyed under bond from Chittagong to Naraingunge by such vessels only as are approved by the Collector of Customs, Chittagong. Each vessel must carry a special pass in the annexed form under the signature of the Collector of Customs, Chittagong, covering the consignment of salt shipped by it.

3. The salt when placed on board such vessels must be stamped all over and conveyed under sealed hatches. Both the seals on the hatches and the stamps on the salt as reported on clearance by the Collector of Customs at Chittagong shall be separately examined and reported on by the salt darogah to the Collector of Customs, Naraingunge, on receipt of whose orders on the darogah's reports the seals may be broken and the salt weighed.

4. Salt on which duty has not been paid can only be removed from Chittagong under a bond to be executed by the bonder prior to the departure of the vessel or vessels conveying such salt. The bond shall be in the form appended to these rules, and shall state that the salt will arrive at Naraingunge within twenty-one days from the granting of the port clearance during the north-east monsoon (i. e., from the 16th September to the 30th April) or within fifteen days from the date of the granting of port clearance during the south-west monsoon, (i. e., from the 1st May to the 15th September). Port clearance shall not be granted till after the due execution of the bond and after the quantities entered in the tally books have been found to agree with those entered in the manifest (or cargo books) of such vessel or vessels. Single bonds may be accepted for any quantity of salt not exceeding 20,000 maunds, and shall cover all the vessels being loaded with the quantity of salt for which the bond in each case is given; and such vessels must, in each case, be named in the bond. The number and date of the bond is to be noted in the pass which accompanies each vessel, and in the copies of the pass retained by the Collector of Customs, Chittagong, and forwarded to the Collector of Customs, Naraingunge, respectively.

5. The vessel on arrival at Naraingunge shall be anchored as close as possible to the ghât leading to the warehouse in which the salt is to be stored, or at the nearest moorings to such ghât.

6. The weighment of the salt shall be made in the presence of the salt darogah, and a Customs peon shall invariably remain with the salt until the weighment shall have been completed. Weighment of the salt shall be made, as a general rule, on board the importing vessel. It will, however, be competent to the Board, on sufficient cause being shown, to permit the salt of any bonder to be weighed after removal to the shore, under such suitable precautions, to be taken at the sole expense of the bonder, as may be prescribed by the Collector of Customs, Naraingunge, and approved by the Board.

7. The salt shall be stored in a licensed warehouse immediately the weighment shall have been made. The door of the warehouse shall have two locks; the key of one lock (which must be a Chubb's lock) shall remain with the darogah, and the key of the other with the bonder's agent.

8. The bonder will be required to defray the cost of the preventive officers and all charges attendant on the weighing of the salt, both at Chittagong and Naraingunge, such weighments being conducted as laid down in the Board's rules for weighing salt intended for bond at Chittagong.

9. Both Customs officers and the exporter's agent will be required to certify at the end of each day's weighments the correctness of the tally book for that day's work.

10. The working hours with regard to delivery and weighment of salt shall be from 6 A.M. to 3 P.M., or such others hours as may be fixed from time to time by the Collector of Customs with the approval of the Commissioner.

11. If from any cause the weighments cannot be completed in one day, extra peons as may be considered necessary by the Collector of Customs shall be appointed to guard the salt, the cost being borne by the bonder.

12. When the discharge of salt from shipboard at Chittagong for conveyance under bond to Naraingunge is interrupted, or not completed, such quantity as has been actually delivered at the time of interruption shall be covered by a Customs boat-note. The salt so delivered must also be completely stamped over, and the hatches and all access to the hold must be sealed by Customs seals, to be examined by the night Customs Inspector, who must record his report of each such inspection.

13. The owner of the salt shall be required to pay full duty on any difference between the quantity of salt weighed over the ship's side or out of bond at Chittagong and the quantity weighed out of the brig or steamer at Naringunge, less an allowance of one per cent. for wastage during the passage, if such wastage actually occurs.

14. On arrival at Naraingunge the salt shall be immediately bonded under proper supervision, the duty on the warehousing bill-of-entry being calculated on the whole quantity delivered on weighment from the vessel or vessels covered by the bond. As salt is cleared from bond, the quantity as entered in the clearance bill-of-entry will be noted on the warehousing bill-of-entry and duty paid accordingly. When the last quantity of salt under each bond is cleared, the bonder shall make good the deficiency, if any, between the amount of duty originally entered in the warehousing bill-of-entry and the total amounts of duty paid, less an allowance, on account of wastage, if such wastage has actually occurred, which shall not exceed 2½ per cent. on the whole quantity warehoused.

15. In addition to the above rules, the rules contained in sections VIII to X of the Salt Manual shall apply generally to all salt conveyed under bond from Chittagong and warehoused at Naraingunge.

16. It is to be understood also that before permission can be given to transport salt to Naraingunge under bond, the bonder will be required to construct a suitable warehouse at Naraingunge, to be approved and licensed by the Collector, together with suitable accommodation for the warehouse establishment, also to be approved by the Collector. He will also be required to enter into an engagement with the Collector to defray the cost to Government of the establishment noted in the margin, which will be appointed by the Collector for the guard and supervision of the warehouse.

	Rs.
1 Darogah on	50
2 Peons, at Rs. 6 each	12

RESOLUTION—by the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce.

Read again—

Resolution in this Department, No. 59, dated the 11th January 1882, relating to the issue of duplicates of Government Promissory Notes alleged to have been lost or destroyed.

Proceedings in this Department (Accounts and Finance) for the month of November 1882, Nos. 1644 to 1650, relating to the extension to Madras and Bombay of the scale of fees authorised for the Government Solicitor, Calcutta, for the preparation of Bonds of Indemnity in cases of issue of duplicates of lost Government Promissory Notes.

Read also—

Letter from the Comptroller-General, No. 478D, dated the 30th September 1882, forwarding copy of correspondence with the Government Solicitor, in which certain questions are raised in connection with the payment of interest on and issue of duplicates of lost Government Promissory Notes.

RESOLUTION.—Certain new rules on the subject of indemnity bonds having been prescribed by the Government of India, it is desirable that, as suggested by the Comptroller-General, all the orders of Government relating to claims to lost Promissory Notes should be consolidated for the sake of convenience. The following rules are accordingly prescribed in supersession of the orders cited in the preamble :—

(1) Claims to draw interest in respect of a promissory note of which either one-half or the whole has been lost, or for the issue of a duplicate in lieu of such note should be made to the Public Debt Office, Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay, as the case may be, by which the necessary preliminary enquiries will be made, and under whose directions an advertisement will be issued three times in the Government Gazette of the province in which the loss is alleged to have occurred, and three times in the Gazette of India.

(2) If one-half of the note is produced, the case should be submitted by the Public Debt Office, Calcutta, to the Comptroller-General for orders six months after the date of the last advertisement, and if he considers the claim to be sufficiently proved, he may direct the issue of a duplicate, in lieu of the lost note, after execution of a bond of indemnity, with or without sureties.

(3) Every claim to the issue of a duplicate note in lieu of one alleged to be wholly lost will be submitted by the Public Debt Office to be provisionally decided by the Comptroller-General after at least two years have elapsed from the date of the last correct advertisement.

(4) If there appears to be no objection to the issue of a duplicate note to the claimant, the Comptroller-General will record his opinion to that effect, and will direct that interest upon the note be paid to the claimant after execution of a bond of indemnity with two sufficient sureties.

(5) The indemnity given for payment of interest should be for twice the amount of interest payable under it, but not exceeding the amount of the principal of the lost notes, and all indemnity bonds should contain the condition that the payment of interest shall cease when the time has come when the applicant may under rules 6 and 7 receive a duplicate note.

(6) If the note is payable after notice given in the Gazette, the Comptroller-General will give that notice and will (unless any reason to the contrary appears) issue a duplicate note, on indemnity bond, six years after the date of payment fixed in such notice. The applicant should execute a fresh bond of indemnity at the time of receiving a duplicate note.

(7) But if the note is of a loan of which such notice of payment cannot immediately be given, then no further steps can be taken until notice of payment can be given in accordance with the terms of the loan The requisite notice will then be given, and six years after the date of payment fixed in such notice a duplicate may be issued as directed in Rule 6.

(8) The Comptroller-General will publish notices under Rule 6 twice a year, about January and again about July, and will to each such notice append a list shewing the numbers of notes already, within the last six years, advertised for payment under this Resolution. Notes of which duplicates have been issued under Rule 2, and also any notes of which the Comptroller-General may, under the advice of the Law Officers of Government, have sanctioned renewal under bond of indemnity, should be included in these notices

(9) These orders will apply to all notes on which, under existing rules interest has been ordered to be paid, but of which duplicates have not yet been issued.

(10) No lost note of a loan which has been ordered for discharge may be paid until a duplicate note has been issued under the above procedure.

(11) The scale of fees authorised for the Government Solicitors at Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay, for the preparation of bonds of indemnity, is as follows :—

				Rs.
For Securities not exceeding in amount			...	500	no charge.
Ditto	ditto	...	...	1,000	1 gold mohur.

Ditto	ditto	...	...	4,000	4 ditto.
Ditto	ditto	...	...	5,000	5 ditto.
For all exceeding	...	...	...	5,000	6 ditto.

2. These orders do not apply to stock certificates payable to bearer of which duplicates may not be issued without special orders of Government in each case.

ORDERED that this Resolution be communicated to the Comptroller-General for information and guidance and published in the Gazette of India.

No. 142.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 46 of the Native Passenger Ships Act, 1876, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to make the following rule in supersession of Rule VIII of the rules published under Notification of the Department of Revenue, Agriculture, and Commerce, No. 298, dated the 8th August 1877 :—

MUNICIPALITIES IN BENGAL.

THE HON. MR. REYNOLDS presented the preliminary report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend and consolidate the law relating to Municipalities in Bengal. He said he did not propose on this occasion to invite the Council to discuss the amendments which were provisionally introduced in this Bill.

Those amendments were merely suggested at present, and were not finally adopted, and the members of the Select Committee were not quite in accord in respect to some of them, but they thought an expression of public opinion should be invited on the Bill in the form in which it now stood. He moved that the Bill be republished and referred back to the Select Committee for further consideration and report.

The motion was put and agreed to.

CONTROL OF DANDEEWALLAHS AND PORTERS IN DARJEELING AND KURSEONG.

THE HON. MR. MACAULAY moved that the report of the Select Committee on the Bill for the general control of Coolies in Hill Municipalities be taken into consideration in order to the settlement of the clauses of the Bill. He said that, when he had the honour of laying this Bill before the Council on the last occasion, he drew attention to a memorial which had been received from the British Indian Association, and he said that it would be found that most of the objections urged in that memorial had been met by the Bill as it had been amended by the Select Committee. There were certain other objections in the memorial which he thought need scarcely be seriously considered, and which indeed were probably not intended to be seriously considered. One of these was that the Bill which, as the Council were aware, was restricted to municipal limits, would affect coolies working in tea gardens. Another objection was that the proposal to allow the Magistrate to suspend or withdraw the license of a coolie would subject this poor ignorant man to an ostracism which had not "yet been brought to bear in any civilized community, even against time-expired convicts, murderers, and cut-throats." This objection was not very clearly put, but its general sense might be gathered. Now, in the Calcutta Hackney Carriage Act, there were precisely the same penalties attached to the breach of the conditions of a license by the drivers of hackney carriages and bearers of palankeens, as were here proposed for dandeewallahs and porters. He gathered therefore that these drivers of hackney carriages and bearers of palankeens were in the opinion of the British Indian Association subjected to an ostracism which had not "yet been brought to bear in any civilized community, even against time-expired convicts, murderers and cut-throats." It would appear from this that, in the opinion of the Association, the Darjeeling Municipality was a civilized community, while the Calcutta Municipality was not. No one was better qualified to speak on the subject of Calcutta than the writer of this memorial, his hon'ble friend Rai Kristodas Pal, Bahadoor, who was a Commissioner of the Calcutta Municipality, and MR. MACAULAY had no doubt the inhabitants of the more favoured community would appreciate the compliment coming as it did from such a source. Into the feeling of the hon. gentleman's brother Commissioners, when they were informed of that opinion, MR. MACAULAY would prefer not to enter.

He had already said that most of the valid objections which had been taken in this memorial had been obviated by the provisions of the Bill as amended by the Select Committee. It was intended that the operation of the law should be restricted to the Municipalities of Darjeeling and Kurseong; that it should be restricted to persons employed in carrying loads and drawing or propelling vehicles; and to persons who were engaged for periods of time less than twenty-four hours. To servants who were engaged for periods exceeding twenty-four hours, it would only apply so far that they would be required to take out licenses, which could only be withdrawn or suspended for certain kinds of misconduct. They would not be liable to any penalties beyond these, and to these only in cases of gross misconduct. No attempt was made to regulate the rates of such service. The object of the Bill was simply to provide that, if people were engaged for the performance of a certain service, there should be some guarantee that that service would be properly discharged. With regard to coolies who were engaged to work for periods not exceeding 24 hours, more stringent regulations were required in the interests of the public and for the credit of the municipality. At the same time it would be observed that the law would fully protect these coolies in the enjoyment of their own rights, provided they themselves observed the regulations which were laid down for them. He thought the Council would agree with him in saying that the Bill had been made as lenient as was compatible with the object for which it had been introduced.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay also moved that the clauses of the Bill be considered for settlement in the form recommended by the Select Committee.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon. Mahomed Yusuf moved the following amendments in section 1:—To insert the words "men employed as" after "limited to" in line 2; also to substitute the word "men" for "persons" in line 3. He thought this amendment should be accepted by the Council because it did not seem expedient to extend the law to women, although they worked as porters or dandeewallahs, as it was but natural for him to expect that women could be brought more easily under control than men, and there did not seem the same necessity for legislation in respect of them as there was for men.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay said that those who had experience of Darjeeling had found that women who acted as coolies were quite as difficult to deal with as men, and the effect of the amendment would be to remove from the operation of the Act one-half of the class of people whom this Bill was intended to bring under regulation. He hoped the Hon. Member would withdraw the amendment.

The motion was put and negatived, and the section as it stood in the Bill was passed.

The Hon. Mahomed Yusuf moved that in section 5, line 3, the word "may" be substituted for "shall." In moving this amendment he said:—While submitting this amendment, it is necessary that I should draw the attention of the Council to another amendment which stands in my name, viz. that relating to section 14 of the Bill in which I humbly propose that certain words which occur at the beginning of the section should be omitted: those words are "Any coolie who shall work as such without being duly registered and licensed and." Both these amendments are based upon the same principle, and they must stand or fall together. The effect of these amendments would be that section 5 would run as follows:—

"Every coolie personally working for gain within the limits of such municipality may take out a license, and shall thereupon be registered by the registering officer, &c."

And section 14 would run as follows:—

"Any coolie who having a license in force shall transfer or lend the same, &c., shall be liable on conviction, &c."

If the sections be thus amended, the result no doubt would be that this Bill will not apply to all the coolies of the kind contemplated by the Bill, but that, at the places where this Bill would operate, there would be two classes of coolies—one registered and the other unregistered. And this is exactly the scope which this Bill should have according to my view of its necessity and urgency at the places where it is intended to have operation. It is not necessary for my present purpose, at the present moment, that I should trouble the Council with any observations about the principle of the Bill generally. But it is necessary for me to submit that, according to the view which I take of the matter, it will be sufficient to have a law for the registration of coolies without making it actually compulsory for the coolies to get themselves registered. We should only give them the option of doing so, leaving it to other causes and inducements that their option should be exercised towards getting themselves registered, so that registration should be their voluntary act. I have on a previous occasion expressed my concurrence with the principle of the Bill, and I desire it to be understood that I still maintain the opinion which I then expressed These amendments, if carried out, will not interfere with the main principle of the Bill, and instead of defeating or nullifying the Act would only place it upon a more solid basis.

Assuming that necessity for legislation exists, how is that necessity to be met? There are three conceivable ways of doing this,—one by actually using force and compelling every person who has worked as a coolie to register himself as such and to work as a coolie: this is impressing the labour of man and objectionable on the ground of slavery, and is altogether out of the question. Another mode of meeting the necessity is to provide that no person should act as a coolie unless he has had himself registered, and this is what the Bill proposes. The third mode is to leave it optional to the coolie to get himself registered or not as he pleases, but at the same time to make provisions so that the coolie should of his own accord get himself registered. This can be done by giving to the registered coolie a rate of remuneration so far superior to that which an unregistered coolie could possibly get that the coolie instead of looking upon registration as a measure of compulsion to which he must have recourse whether he wills it or not would hail it with joy and alacrity, and consider the measure as a boon for himself. These amendments then in reality bear upon the matter covered by section 14 of the Bill, viz. that relating to rates: and the question therefore is that regard being had to what is set out in the Statement of Objects and Reasons which accompanied the Bill when it was first introduced into the Council, and also regard being had to what the Hon. Mover of the Bill said when introducing the Bill, whether the Bill would offer the necessary relief if these amendments were carried out, or, in other words, whether what I have been suggesting would be consistent with the avowed objects of the Bill.

Now from the materials placed before the Council, it appears that the measure is needed on account of the 'misconduct and extortionate charges' of the coolies. Some people are of opinion that this does not shew any necessity whatever for the measure; and although I am not one of them, still I cannot help thinking that the necessity for the measure, though absolute and paramount, so far as the character of the coolie is concerned, might not be felt by the employers universally, and that there may be classes of men at the places where this Bill would apply, who might rather chose to put up with the present state of affairs and suffer all the inconveniences which exist under the present system than desire a change which would involve some sacrifice of money. Such classes will be at liberty to avail themselves of the cheaper mode of employing unregistered coolies. They will take the risk of the present inconveniences, while those who are desirous to go any length to secure themselves against misconduct and rapacity must pay for it, and have recourse to registered coolies, whose registration will be a guarantee against misconduct, and whose charges, although they will be comparatively higher, still, being according to a certain rule and a certain standard fixed by law, will be uniform, and therefore not open to the objection of being extortionate; the employers will thus be saved from the present complaint, viz. the misconduct of the coolies and their rapacity and extortionate charges; and the object of the Bill will be accomplished.

The suggestions, therefore, which I have ventured to submit will result in a measure which cannot fail to give general satisfaction. While providing for the necessity and urgency of the occasion for those that feel such necessity and urgency, it will not fail to put coolie labour beyond the reach of the inferior classes of employers who do not care for what, in the case of others, constitutes absolute necessity. Whilst producing a better class of coolies, for such as stand in need of the services of such a class, the measure will be placed beyond cavil, and nobody will be able to say that the result has been achieved at the sacrifice of freedom. Although the inducements will be such that the coolie cannot but register himself, still, being his own voluntary act, the registration could not be objected to as partaking of the degradation of slavery. There will be no infringement of liberty, and no irksome or degrading restraint. The principal objection to Government interference in such matters will then be absent. The measure will then fall under a principle thus set out by a high authority:—

"There is another kind of intervention which is not authoritative. When a Government, instead of issuing a command and enforcing it by penalties, adopts the course so seldom resorted to by Governments, and of which such important use might be made, that of giving advice and promulgating information, or when leaving individuals free to use their own means of pursuing any object of general interest, the Government not meddling with them, but not trusting the object solely to their care, establishes, side by side with their arrangements, an agency of its own for a like purpose. . . . There may be public hospitals without any restriction upon private medical or surgical practice."

If this be done, then the Bill will not offend the good sense of the most fastidious critic, or the most liberal and enlightened supporter of the cause of the weak.

Certain other portions of the Bill would at the same time be deprived of the objections to which they are now open.

There are some sections in the Bill which provide for penalties for certain cases by way of cancellation or revocation of the license and the severity of such penalties involving, as they do, a permanent disability to work and a permanent deprivation of livelihood has given rise to doubts whether it is proper to retain those sections in the Act. Certain amendments standing in my name, and also in those of other hon. members are consequently before the Council in connection with those sections. But if registration is left optional, then the severity of the sentence will exist no longer. If the license is cancelled or revoked, the coolie can still work as an unregistered coolie, and this without any detriment to the employment of coolie labour, inasmuch as employers will know that amongst the unregistered coolies it is likely that there are some who might have been convicted, and if with this knowledge they employ unregistered coolies for smaller wages it is their own look-out, and they must take their chance, and with it the consequences. If the unregistered coolies fail for some reason to get employment, then that failure will only serve to improve the position of the registered coolies and to popularise registration.

In the matter of wages also the working of the Act will be satisfactory. Although there will be a standard for rates, still the matter being open to competition amongst the registered and unregistered coolies, there will be freedom of choice left to both parties.

Whilst, therefore, I generally agree with the Hon. Mover of the Bill as to the necessity for legislation, I submit that, although legislation is justifiable in the form which it takes in the Bill, considering the character of the coolies, still regard being had to other considerations, it would be safe that it should assume the form which I have most humbly ventured to suggest, the same being proportionate to the degree of necessity shown by the Hon. Mover, according to the view which I take of such necessity, and which view I have just had the honour to explain.

The question being put to the voto, the following division was taken:—

Ayes 1.	Noes 10.
Hon. Mahomed Yusuf.	Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghose.
	Hon. Harbuns Sahai.
	Hon. Mr. Caithness.
	Hon. Bhudeb Mookerjee.
	Hon. Mr. Allen.
	Col. the Hon. S. T. Trevor.
	Hon. Mr. Macaulay.
	Hon. Mr. Reynolds.
	Hon. Mr. Dampier.
	Hon. the President.

So the motion was negatived, and the section as it stood in the Bill was agreed to.

The Hon. Mahomed Yusuf, on his attention being called by the Hon. Mr. Reynolds to the word "such" in section 9 which served the purpose of his amendment, withdrew the amendment, of which he had given notice, that the following proviso be added to section 9:—"Provided always that no coolie licensed to serve as a porter shall be required to wear his badge when he is not waiting at a depôt or stand in expectation of a job."

The Hon. Harbuns Sahai moved that the following section be substituted for section 10:—

"The Commissioners shall at a meeting, in consultation with chowdhrees or heads of the coolies, determine the rates of hire in respect of all coolies empowered to work by the job or for any period not exceeding 24 hours, and after the said rates have been sanctioned by the Lieutenant-Governor, publish the same in such manner as they think fit. Such rates shall include rates calculated according to distance, as well as rates calculated according to time, and such rates may from time to time be varied in the like manner with the like sanction."

He said that his only object in proposing this amendment was that the coolies should have a voice in the determination of the rates. As the Bill stood, the Municipal Commissioners alone would fix the rates of hire, and they would, without the knowledge and behind the backs of the coolies, fix rates which they would consider fair and proper, and though those rates might be sanctioned by Government, the coolies might have good grounds for objecting to them. What he proposed was that before the rates were fixed by the Commissioners and submitted to Government for sanction, the coolies, or their representatives, should have an opportunity of representing their views, and thus have a voice in the determination of the rates; that was to say, that the rates should be settled in consultation with the coolies Generally speaking, the Municipal Commissioners would be the representatives of the employers, and would be in a manner one of the parties to the contract, and they might fix rates which might not be satisfactory to the other party. It was to avoid such a contingency that he proposed this amendment.

The Hon. Mr Macaulay remarked that besides the general objection that the Municipal Commissioners might be trusted to act so as to make the law a success and not a failure, there was the further objection that the amendment left out an important part of the section. The Hon. Member did not propose by his amendment to substitute anything for the fixing of the rates of hire to places situated beyond the limits of the municipality, nor for the publication of the rates fixed in the vernacular languages.

The Hon. Harbuns Sahai explained that that was an oversight. He only intended his motion to be in substitution of the first clause of the section.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay said that the first portion of his remarks still applied. There could be no doubt that the Commissioners would endeavour to fix the charges at such rates as would be satisfactory to both parties.

The Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghose said he agreed in the amendment proposed, and he thought it was an amendment which should recommend itself to the favourable consideration of the Council. He said that the provisions of the law should be made as liberal as possible, due regard being had to the interests of the coolies. The Municipal Commissioners would be the class of persons who would be the employers of labour, and it was not too much to require that the coolies should have a voice in the determination of the rates at which they should be required to work.

The Hon. Mahomed Yusuf said that the rates ought to be fixed in a manner which would show that a proper endeavour was made to do justice to the coolies. It did not naturally follow that the Commissioners would fix rates that would be unjust, but if everybody did his duty legislation would be unnecessary: too great care could not be shewn how the rate of the cooly labour should be fixed: it was apprehended that there would not be that security for justice if the rates were fixed without any endeavour to ascertain the views of the coolies, and to take into consideration the state of market, the rise and fall of prices of food, and generally all those circumstances on which the determination of wages for labour depends.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds said that, before the amendment was put to the vote, he should like to ask the Hon. Members, who were better acquainted with the circumstances of the case than he was, whether there were in the stations of Darjeeling and Kurseong recognized chowdhrees or heads of coolies who would be competent to speak on behalf of the coolies, and he would also ask what force was intended to be put on the words "in consultation with chowdhrees or heads of the coolies." Were the words used in the same sense as the words "in consultation with the Commissioners" in the Jute-warehouse Licensing Act, which was intended to mean on the recommendation or with the concurrence of the Commissioners? Was it intended that the rates were not to be fixed without their concurrence, or was it the intention only that the opinion of the coolies should be taken?

The Hon Harbuns Sahai said he only intended that the views of the coolies should be ascertained before the rates were determined. The report of the Commissioners would be laid before the Lieutenant-Governor, and he would then be in a position to consider any objections which the coolies might have urged to the rates fixed by the Commissioners, and would be better able to decide what rates were fair.

The Hon. Mr. Dampier thought there was considerable force in what the Hon. Mover of the amendment had urged. No doubt it was a mere sentimental objection practically, because ultimately the decision would rest with the Commissioners, who would probably belong to the employer class; but the fact of the other party having a declared right of being taken into consultation would give satisfaction, and would be a guarantee that their views would receive due consideration from the confirming authority, the Lieutenant-Governor, when sanctioning the adoption of the scale of hire.

His Honor the President said he heartily sympathised with the object of the amendment, though he did not share the Hon. Member's wish to substitute the words he proposed. It seemed ridiculous in one sense that such persons should be called into consultation as to the rates which they were entitled to receive. It was very much the same as if the cabmen in London were to be called in to say whether one shilling per mile was a fair rate of hire for cabs, or the palankin-bearers in Calcutta were to be consulted as to the rates of fare which they should be allowed to charge. They would certainly have a high idea of their own importance and insist on high rates. The rates of hire which prevailed in such cases were very well known. But something was required to make it clear that these rates should receive the sanction and confirmation of the Lieutenant-Governor before they were adopted. As the section ran, His Honor did not think that was clear. He believed the Hon. Member in charge of the Bill intended to propose amendments that the rates determined by the Commissioners should not have force until they were sanctioned by the Government and published in the Gazette. There would then be the assurance that the rates proposed would be considered by the Government and its officers. If the rates recommended were either too high or too low, in either case the parties interested would have an opportunity to submit their representations to the Government, which was generally on the spot. He thought all difficulty would be removed by some provision of the description he had mentioned, and he would prefer that to the larger amendment that these people should be called into consultation with the Commissioners; even if that was done, he did not think much would be gained by it.

The Hon. Harbuns Sahai observed that all that he wished was that the persons concerned should have an opportunity to lay their case before the Municipal Commissioners, and then if they were dissatisfied with the rates fixed by the Commissioners, they should have an opportunity of memorializing the Government before those rates were confirmed.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay said he believed there was not the slightest doubt that the representations of the coolies would be considered before the rates were fixed. Under recent orders of the Government of India, whenever a rule of this sort was intended to be brought into force, the proposed rules would not only have to be published in the Calcutta Gazette, but in the local newspapers before they were submitted to Government for confirmation; but he was not sure whether the sirdar coolies were in the habit of reading the Darjeeling News. He would move that section 10 of the Bill be amended so as to stand as follows:—

"The Commissioners at a meeting, of which at least seven days' notice shall have been given by beat of drum, may make and publish, in such manner as they think fit, an order specifying the rates of hire in respect of all coolies empowered to work by the job, or for any period not exceeding twenty-four hours. Such rates shall include rates calculated according to distance as well as rates calculated according to time, and such rates may from time to time be varied:

Provided that the list of rates calculated according to distance shall include rates in respect of such places situate beyond the limits of the municipality as may from time to time be determined upon by the Commissioners."

The Hon. Harbuns Sahai then withdrew his motion, and the section as proposed to be amended by Mr. Macaulay was agreed to.

The Hon. Mahomed Yusuf moved the following amendments in section 11, that the word "special" be inserted before "contract" in line 9, and the words "at any other rate" be substituted for "at a lower rate" in line 10. He said that, as the section at present stood, the contract which it recognised might be said to be one-sided, and bound the coolie to a lower rate than that fixed by law, while it did not bind the employer if he agreed to pay a higher rate. The section did not keep in view such cases as the occurrence of fairs and other occasions when there might be an extraordinary demand for labour. The effect of his amendment would be that in ordinary cases the rates fixed by law would obtain, but that there might be special contracts at higher or lower rates of fare.

The Hon. Harbuns Sahai said his proposal was to omit the proviso altogether. As the section stood, the coolie would be bound by a contract to accept a lower rate, but the employer would not be bound by any contract by which the rate might be enhanced. That, he thought, was unjust. If an employer was allowed, at times when there was no great demand for labour, to contract for the payment of lower rates of fare, the coolie should similarly be allowed, when there was a great demand, to stipulate for a higher rate of payment. If the proviso was allowed to stand, there might be good ground for the statement that an invidious distinction was made by the law between the employer and the employed. He therefore moved that the proviso be omitted from the section.

The Hon. Mahomed Yusuf remarked that his amendment, being more comprehensive than that proposed by the Hon. Mover to his left (the Hon. Harbuns Sahai), he would first propose his own amendment, and in the event of his losing his amendment, he would vote for that of the Hon. Member.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds said he was not able to see how the proposal to amend the proviso would meet the object in view, for by substituting for the words "at a lower rate" the words "at any other rate," it would not bind the employer to pay any higher rate that might have been agreed upon; there was no object in merely binding the coolie. The object would only be served by binding the employer.

The Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghose said he agreed with the amendment of the Hon. Mahomed Yusuf; he only wished to suggest to him whether he did not intend that both parties should be bound by the contract. He would put a case which would show the necessity for this amendment. Suppose a coolie was very much fatigued after a hard day's labour, and a gentleman urgently required the man's services, and offered to pay him at a higher rate if he would do the work required, and the coolie agreed to do it, being persuaded by the temptation of a good remuneration. Would it be fair that the parties should not be bound by a contract of that kind? Although it might be the intention of the Act that ordinarily the rates fixed should be binding on both parties, yet, if under exceptional circumstances a special agreement was made, such an agreement ought to have full effect. If the proviso was omitted altogether, it might perhaps serve this purpose, but the matter would be left in some ambiguity, and he would therefore suggest that the amendment proposed be made.

The Hon. Mahomed Yusuf explained that his object in moving the amendment was this: there being a table of rates, according to the provisions of the Bill, in the absence of any contract to the contrary, those rates should be understood to have been agreed upon between the parties; but the parties should be left open to stipulate for and agree upon any other rate, different from the rates shown in the table. He certainly meant to bind down both the parties to the "other rate" proposed by him.

The Hon. Mr Dampier said, as he understood it, under the Bill as it stood a coolie could contract himself out of the Act if he wished to do so, but unless a clause which would be the complement of the present proviso were introduced, the proviso would imply that the employer of a coolie could not do so. Supposing for instance that an employer held out a higher fare as an inducement to the coolies to carry him quickly, was he to be allowed to repudiate the promise as being illegal? As the Bill stood, was it not the case that the employer would not be bound by such a promise? He would suggest the following amendment of the proviso as being better calculated to carry out the intention of the Hon. Mover of the first amendment. "Provided that nothing in the Act contained should prevent any employer or coolie from being bound by any contract into which he may have entered to make or receive payment at any other rate than that fixed by the Act." He desired the same measure for both parties.

The Hon. Mahomed Yusuf said that the amendment in the words suggested by the Hon. Member opposite (the Hon. Mr. Dampier) so clearly and unmistakeably expressed the object he had in view, that he felt himself considerably obliged to him for his suggestion, which he readily adopted in the place of his own amendment in the words originally proposed by him.

COLONEL THE HON. S. T. TREVOR said he would be prepared to vote for the proviso as it stood in the Bill. When work was slack, and there was much competition, coolies generally offered to accept lower rates, and it should be open to employers to engage coolies who thus offered their services at lower rates, and such an agreement should be binding. It was optional with employers to engage coolies, and it might often happen that an engagement would not have been made except for the lower rate offered. But it was not optional with coolies to accept employment at the legal rates. There was nothing to prevent any employer from paying at higher than the legal rates if he pleased, but no contract to do so should be held to be valid, for if it were the Act would be useless.

The HON. MR. ALLEN thought the effect of the amendment would be simply to render the Act useless.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY said it appeared to him that there were three courses open to the Council. One was to alter the section as proposed, another to leave the section as it stood, and the other to omit the proviso altogether. The proviso to the section had been taken from an Act of this Council which had been in force for the last nineteen years, and had worked satisfactorily. If the proviso was amended as proposed, the effect would be, as had just been stated, to render the Act useless; and if the proviso was omitted, then a coolie after agreeing to work at a lower rate of hire could refuse to be bound by it.

The proviso as proposed to be amended was then put to the vote and negatived.

The HON. HARBUNS SAHAI's motion to omit the proviso was then put to the vote, and the following division was taken:—

Ayes 5.	Noes 6.
Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghose.	Hon. Mr. Caithness.
Hon. Harbuns Sahai.	Hon. Bhudeb Mookerjee.
Hon. Mahomed Yusuf.	Hon. Mr. Allen.
Hon. Mr. Dampier.	Col. the Hon. S. T. Trevor.
Hon. the President.	Hon. Mr. Macaulay.
	Hon. Mr. Reynolds.

So the motion was negatived.

The section was then agreed to as it stood in the Bill.

The HON. HARBUNS SAHAI moved the substitution of the following section for section 12:—

"Any coolie engaged as a monthly servant, or for some other fixed period of time exceeding twenty-four hours, who shall be proved to the satisfaction of a Magistrate to have deserted from such employment without reasonable cause during the period of his engagement, or to have wrongfully prevented or endeavoured to prevent any other coolie from accepting employment, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding Rs. 10."

His objection to allow the license of a coolie who was registered as a monthly servant to be withdrawn or suspended by the Chairman of the Commissioners was that that officer could not hold a judicial enquiry, and the offences committed under the section could not be said to be established by legal evidence. He thought the offence committed by the coolie should be established before a Magistrate in a regular judicial proceeding. Another object of his amendment was to omit the offence of "gross misconduct;" the words were undefined and vague, and might be interpreted in different ways by different officers. Anything might be construed into "gross misconduct," and the law might be worked to the great injury of the coolie. The third point in the amendment was that the punishment under this section was too severe, and should be limited to the inflicting of a fine; the total withdrawal of the license might mean starvation to the coolie and his family for the remainder of the year. He proposed that a milder punishment be substituted for the withdrawal or suspension of the license provided by the Bill.

The HON. CHUNDER MADHUB GHOSE said it would not be necessary for him to move the amendments of which he had given notice, if the motion before the Council was carried. The Hon. Member simply proposed a fine of Rs 10, but he did not say what consequences should ensue if the fine was not paid. BABOO CHUNDER MADHUB GHOSE therefore suggested the addition to the section of the words "or in default of payment of the fine, to the suspension of his license for a period not exceeding one month." He agreed that it was proper that the decision of such cases should rest not with the Chairman of the Commissioners, an executive officer, but with the Magistrate before whom the coolie would have the security of a judicial investigation, and he would be able to prefer an appeal to the appellate authority of the district, and in special cases to bring up his case even to the High Court.

The HON. MAHOMED YUSUF thought he could not support the amendment in so far as the same proposed to omit the particular clause of the section which makes the coolie liable to punishment in case he has been found guilty of "gross misconduct." The effect of this omission would be to leave unprovided the very thing which it was of the utmost importance that the Bill should provide, viz., the punishment of the coolie for insolence and misconduct. As for the objection of vagueness, to which it was said the word "misconduct" was open, he thought that there would be no serious difficulty on account of that, because most people had a pretty clear and accurate notion of what constituted misconduct in a menial or other like servant in the ordinary modes of private life, and he thought the coolie under the Act would not have to complain of being placed under discipline, unwarrantably severe, if he were required at the pain of certain penalties not to be guilty of "gross misconduct" during the period of his service. If the coolie could be induced to conform himself, in lieu of suitable and adequate remuneration, to a faithful course of conduct, then everybody would be satisfied. Except so far as it related to this matter, he would support the amendment, that is to say, he would support it in so far as the same would make the coolie triable by the Magistrate instead of the Chairman, and substitute a sentence of fine for that of the revocation or suspension of the license.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY would ask the Council to consider the effect, in a case where a fine of Rs. 10 might be imposed, of suspending the coolie's license for one month in default of payment of the fine, when the wages of the coolie for that period amounted to Rs. 9. It would therefore not be to the interest of the coolie to pay the fine, when he could wipe it off by a month's idleness. As the section stood in the Bill, the license could be suspended for one month, or for such longer period that the Magistrate might think fit The next objection which had been taken was that the Chairman of the Commissioners should not be allowed to adjudicate in such cases, but that the case should be heard by a Magistrate. The Select Committee deliberately made the alteration, because they considered that such a case should not be brought before a Magistrate. It was not a criminal trial; it was in the nature of an executive order. If the license was suspended under this section, there was nothing to prevent the coolie during the time of such suspension to take out a license as a daily labourer, and furthermore, the Chairman being the head of the municipality would be the best judge in a matter which affected municipal administration and the convenience of the public As to what was "gross misconduct" on the part of a monthly servant, the Chairman would be the proper person to decide. The object was to ensure some sort of guarantee that the services which the coolie engaged to perform should be fairly rendered. It was not intended to harry the coolie or to send him to jail; but at the same time they should not be permitted to desert their work, or use insulting or abusive language, or be guilty of any other act of gross misconduct.

The HON. MR. DAMPIER directed the attention of the Hon. Mover of the Bill to the inequality of the punishment of withdrawal of the license which might result in different cases. Suppose an offence were committed under this section in December, when there would be only one month to run of the license, the maximum punishment which the Chairman could inflict would be withdrawal of the license for one month; but if a similar offence were committed, and the license withdrawn in January, eleven months must elapse before the coolie would get a fresh license, and the withdrawal here would be a very severe punishment. MR. DAMPIER would therefore suggest the substitution for the words "withdrawn or suspended for such period as the Chairman may direct" of the words "suspended for any period not exceeding three months," as mitigating the objection which he had made, although no doubt it could not be altogether removed.

COLONEL THE HON. S. T. TREVOR said he would vote for the section as it stood in the Bill. A great deal had been said about the excessive punishment that would result from the withdrawal of a license. He thought there was no great danger of the punishment operating very harshly. A coolie who might forfeit his license as being unfit to work as a monthly servant could still find employment in the Public Works Department or in the plantations round about. It would not be at all necessary for him to starve.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY regretted he was not able to agree to the motion of the HON. HARBUNS SAHAI. He did not think the coolies would suffer from the want of a definition of "gross misconduct." Everybody had a notion of what gross misconduct was in a coolie, and it was not necessary to apply any other rule of judgment.

The HON MR. ALLEN said that he proposed to vote for the section as it stood. He entirely dissented from the idea that all relations between employer and labourer could only be settled by judicial enquiries. If there was any one thing which a person should endeavour to avoid in such transactions in this country it was to call for a judicial enquiry. It practically secured to servants impunity for any misconduct, as the master in most cases would not take the trouble of complaining to a Magistrate to be worried by attendance in court, and be browbeaten and cross-examined in giving his evidence, for he would prefer putting up with any amount of misconduct to standing such annoyance. Therefore it practically amounted to this, that, if servants were to continue to act as servants did act until a judicial enquiry convicted them, it practically meant that the most unfit persons should continue to act as servants. The object of the section as it stood was not to punish servants, but to protect innocent visitors to Darjeeling from being afflicted with annoyances from which they at present suffered. The only mode in which the section proposed to secure this aim was that, if a man shewed himself unfit to be a servant by his gross misconduct (his master would certainly dismiss him), no future master should be deceived and taken in by his holding a license as a monthly servant. Therefore it was deliberately intended that the withdrawal or suspension of the license should not be by a judicial enquiry, and that the Chairman of the Commissioners should not be tied down by the Evidence Act, but would use his common sense as an ordinary man in the ordinary transactions of life on being satisfied that the individual brought before him was guilty of gross misconduct in the discharge of his duty as a servant, without the master being exposed to the annoyance of being browbeaten or subjected to any of the other torments to which a person was liable in the course of a judicial enquiry. It was intended that if the Chairman was satisfied that the man was unfit to act as a servant on account of his gross misconduct, he should withhold the license, and thus protect other visitors to Darjeeling from employing such a man. It was not intended to inflict any penalties upon servants, but simply to secure others from similar annoyances

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said that he would support the section as it stood. If it was a case in which fine and imprisonment were involved, he thought there would be some justification for a judicial enquiry. But the utmost penalty was the withdrawal or suspension of the license under which a coolie worked as a monthly servant. The severity of the punishment would be mitigated by limiting the suspension of the license to three months, and it was also met by the statement that the operation of the Bill was limited to the stations of Darjeeling and Kurseong. If these Lepcha hill coolies, who came into Darjeeling for work, were found guilty of gross misconduct, such as would justify a withdrawal of the license, they could go back to their villages and their cultivation, or they could easily find work outside the municipality. The argument as to the severity of the sentence was no argument against the Bill, as there was no penalty of fine or imprisonment, and he thought that the disposal of a matter of this kind was much better left in the hands of the Chairman of the Commissioners

The Hon. Harbuns Sahai's motion was put to the vote and negatived.

The Hon. Mr. Dampier's amendment was also put to the vote and negatived.

The section as it stood in the Bill was then agreed to.

The Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghose withdrew the amendment of which he had given notice, that in section 13 the words "shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five rupees, or in default of payment to imprisonment not exceeding fifteen days," be substituted for the last paragraph of section 13.

The Hon. Mahomed Yusuf moved that the words "limits of coolie depôts or stands" be substituted for the words "limits of such municipality" in line 6 of section 13. He said that the section as it stood would justify a person in asking a coolie to accept hire, whether he was on a depôt stand or in any other place, even if he was asleep at his house at night; because he could not refuse to accept hire within the limits of the municipality at the rates fixed. The object of the amendment was to make it incumbent on the coolie to accept hire only when he was prepared to do so and was at the depôt stand for the purpose, and not when he was in his own house or at any other place not ready for hire. He thought the words "without reasonable excuse" in the section would not meet the purpose of his amendment, because what might be considered a reasonable excuse by one man might not be so considered by another. Even under the Hackney Carriage Act in Calcutta he did not think a carriage-driver or the plankeen-bearers could be compelled to accept a fare unless at a regular stand. This Bill therefore should not be so extended as to compel a coolie to accept service except when he was at a stand waiting for work.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay said he thought the wording of the section was sufficient to cover the case of a man who was asleep at night in his own house, and he would therefore oppose the amendment. But he observed that the words "within the limits of such municipality" in this section had been left in by mistake. The object was to enable the Commissioners to fix rates of hire for certain places outside the limits of the municipality as well as within it. Those words should therefore be left out, and if a coolie refused to carry a load to any of the places to which he had referred, he should be equally liable to punishment as in the case of refusal to accept a job within the limits of the municipality. He therefore moved that the words "within the limits of such municipality" be omitted from the section.

The Hon. Mahomed Yusuf's amendment was put to the vote and negatived, and the Hon. Mr. Macaulay's amendment was agreed to.

The section as amended was then agreed to.

The Hon. Mahomed Yusuf withdrew the motion of which he had given notice, that the words "any coolie who shall work as such without being duly registered and licensed and" in section 14 be omitted, inasmuch as the same went along with his amendment relating to section 5, which he had lost.

The Hon. Mr Macaulay moved to omit from section 16 the words "under the authority obtained as prescribed by section twenty-three of this Act." The words were by oversight retained from the original draft of the Bill, and had reference to a section which did not now exist.

The motion was carried, and the section as amended was agreed to.

The Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghose moved that the words "without reasonable cause" be inserted after the words "fail" in line 8 of section 19. He thought that if the coolie could satisfy the Magistrate that he was really unable to produce his license, a fine ought not to be imposed; it should be left to the discretion of the Magistrate to decide whether or not reasonable cause was shewn.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay asked if it was necessary to legislate on the assumption that every Magistrate was a Jeffreys. The words in the section were "shall be liable" to fine. No Magistrate would punish a man if he could show that he had lost his license.

His Honor the President observed that if the introduction of the words proposed would, in the opinion of hon. members, afford any security to the coolie, he had no objection to the amendment; they appeared to him to be harmless.

The motion was then put and the following division was taken:—

Ayes 6.	Noes 5.
Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghose.	Hon. Mr. Caithness.
Hon. Harbuns Sahai.	Hon. Mr. Allen.
Hon. Mahomed Yusuf.	Col. the Hon. S. T. Trevor.
Hon. Bhudeb Mookerjee.	Hon. Mr. Macaulay.
Hon. Mr. Dampier.	Hon. Mr. Reynolds.
His Honor the President.

So the motion was carried and the section as amended was agreed to.

The HON. CHUNDER MADHUB GHOSE moved the omission of section 20. He said that he made this motion with some diffidence. On reading the Bill through, it occurred to him that sufficient penalties were provided in the Act for the infringement or violation by the coolies of its several provisions. From section 12 to section 19 every section provided a penalty for the offences specified therein. But in addition to all those penalties, under section 20 the Magistrate might after conviction order the coolie's license to be revoked, and that penalty might follow not only after a conviction for any offence under this Act, but also after conviction of an offence under any other law in force. Suppose a coolie assaulted another coolie and was punished by a small fine, or was sent to jail for a week, then, under a strict interpretation of section 20, his license would be liable to be revoked or suspended. BABOO CHUNDER MADHUB GHOSE would put it to the Council whether the coolie should be left so far at the mercy of the Magistrate.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY said the hon. member lost sight of the fact that the intention of the law was not to harass the coolie, but to protect other persons from similar annoyances. If a coolie was a rowdy coolie, and was constantly creating a disturbance and giving annoyance, it was desirable that such a coolie should be deprived of his license.

The HON. MAHOMED YUSUF supported the amendment. He had an amendment in the same section, and he agreed with the hon. member that punishments having been provided for specific offences in other sections of the Bill, there was no necessity for a general section authorizing the permanent revocation of a coolie's license after conviction for any of those offences, and the case was stronger when the suspension or revocation of the license might take place after conviction for an offence under some other Act which might not affect the coolie in his capacity as a porter, and might not disqualify him as such at all. He submitted that this section should be omitted, but if that motion was not carried, then he would move to omit the word "whether" in line 4, and in lines 4, 5, 6, and 7 to substitute the words "to suspend the license of such coolie" for "or under any other law in force to revoke the license of such coolie or to suspend the same." The coolies, he had been informed, were notorious for their drinking propensities, and any conviction for being drunk and incapable, although not while in the employment of their calling, might make them forfeit their license, and that would tell with too great hardship on the life of the coolie, who might thereby be reduced to starvation.

The HON. CHUNDER MADHUB GHOSE'S motion to omit section 20 was then put to the vote and negatived.

The HON. MAHOMED YUSUF'S amendment was also put to the vote and negatived.

The section as it stood in the Bill was then agreed to.

The HON. MAHOMED YUSUF moved the following amendments in section 21:—To insert the words "or neglect" after "refuse" in line 1; and the words "immediately after his completing his work or job" after "such coolie" in line 3. He said that, if some such words were not inserted, the payment of the coolies might be put off to suit the convenience of the employer, as it was well known was done in Calcutta in the case of hackney carriages and palankeens. As long as the coolie was willing to accommodate the employer no harm would result, but the law should provide that payment should be made immediately after the work was done, and that would be done by the amendment he proposed.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay observed that this section was taken from a corresponding section in the Calcutta Act for the regulation of hackney carriages and palankeens which had been found to work extremely well; he did not see that there was any necessity to amend it.

The Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghose remarked that, as reference had been made to the Hackney Carriage Act, he might mention that there was a section in that Act which provided a penalty on the employer for not paying the money due in proper time.

The motion was put to the vote and negatived.

The section as it stood in the Bill was then agreed to.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay moved that the Bill as amended be passed.

The Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghose said that he did not think he should be doing his duty to the Council if he were not to express his sentiments as regards the principle upon which this Bill had been founded. He had proposed certain amendments, but he thought the time had now come when he should express his real sentiments in regard to the Bill itself. When the Bill was first introduced, he had no doubt that the question as to the advisability or otherwise of such a law being passed was fully discussed by the members who then formed the Council, and he thought that the arguments for and against the Bill were fully present in the minds of the hon. members. He did not think, therefore, that he should be justified in trespassing on the valuable time of the Council by any lengthy remarks at that stage of the Bill. He simply asked leave to say that he dissented from the principle on which the measure was founded. His own honest belief was that the Bill was entirely uncalled for, and he would state very shortly the reasons on which his opinion was based, and they were as follows:—1*st*, that the price of labour ought to be left to be regulated by the law of demand and supply, and not by any strict and inviolable rule, and that restrictions like those now sought to be imposed on the freedom of action of the coolies were improper; 2*nd*, that no sufficient grounds had been disclosed or made out why a special law was required for the coolies of Darjeeling and Kurseong when, if he was correctly informed, there was no such law in any other place or hill station in India; 3*rd*, that although it might be perfectly correct that inconvenience was at present felt by employers by reason of the exorbitant demands of the coolies, and so forth, the law, as proposed, when passed, was likely to work with very great hardship upon the coolies; 4*th*, that the coolies of Darjeeling and Kurseong were too ignorant to be able to observe the law now sought to be passed; and lastly, that such a law was opposed to the liberal policy of the present Government.

The Hon. Harbuns Sahai said he also begged to vote against the motion. He fully agreed with the arguments and objections which had been adduced by the Hon. Member who preceded him, and he wished only to add that in his opinion the Bill would interfere unduly with the freedom of action of the coolies.

The Hon. Mahomed Yusuf said—When this Bill was last before the Council on the motion of the Hon. Mover to refer the same to a Select Committee, I had the honour to express an opinion in support of the principle of the Bill. No member of the Council, as it was then constituted, being of a different opinion, there was no discussion on the subject at any length. The suggestions which were then made by the members who spoke assumed that the principle of registering the coolies was right, and it was left to the Select Committee to see how that principle was to be carried out, regard being had to the suggestions that were made in Council.

Since its first introduction it has been doubted whether the Bill is based on a sound principle. I therefore desire, with the permission of the Council, to explain the reasons which led me to support the principle involved in the Bill.

I venture to think that the principle upon which the Bill is based is a correct one, being analogous to that which is the basis for the registration of palankeens and hackney carriages, for which we have an Act of the Supreme Council, viz. Act XIV of 1879, and also an Act of this Concil, viz. Act V of 1866.

The proceedings of the Imperial Council, when the Act of 1879 was under consideration, do not contain anything of importance which I could with advantage place before the Council; but the proceedings of this Council of 1862 contain the record of a very important debate when the Act repealed by the subsequent Act of 1866 was under consideration. In April 1862 the late Baboo Prosunno Coomar Tagore thus expressed himself on the Bill relating to conveyances and palankeens then before the Council:—

"Baboo Prosunno Coomar Tagore did not wish to oppose the introduction of the Bill, but would offer two or three suggestions for the consideration of the Select Committee who would be entrusted with the revision of the Bill. Section 11 provided that the fares should be fixed by a Government officer, but that was most objectionable in principle. He for one was not disposed to entrust any such power to the executive authorities. By section 15 the owners of registered carriages were compelled to let them out when required to do so by any person, so that they would be obliged to trust to any unknown person under a penalty; whereas, if any person refused to pay an owner, he would be compelled to go before a Magistrate to recover the fare. This was a great hardship, and there ought to be some better provision for the protection of the owners of carriages let out for hire. The theory of political economy was that every man should be left to follow his profession without interference from the Government authorities, and should be allowed to charge whatever he thought proper for his labour, and that the demand regulated the fare. But Government interference for the greatest good of the greatest number sometimes became necessary; and this was one of the cases for interference. He did not see any reason for not including in the Bill the regulation of carts and boats. They were often a source of annoyance and inconvenience to such of the public as required to hire them. There was already an Act for licensing boats and fixing the number of passengers, and why should not all sorts of boats, whether for the conveyance of goods or passengers, be subject to regulation?

"The principle was the same. That observation was equally applicable to carts. For instance, the loads to be put upon them should be fixed so as to prevent the cattle by which they were drawn from being ill-used, as was daily the case in this city. Whilst on this subject, members should not forget the coolies or porters of whom there were so many thousands coming to this city for employment, and who were often tempted to walk away with the property entrusted to them. How often had members heard of a sircar being followed by a coolie with a bag of money on his head, and the sircar, on turning back, perceiving that the coolie had walked off with the bag. In such cases, generally, it is impossible to identify the man to whom the stolen property had been entrusted. Were coolies to be registered and distinguished by badges with numbers on them, runaways would be easily detected.

"All these were matters connected with the general question of public conveyance and were the subject of legislation elsewhere. They might be properly included in the Bill before the Council for consolidation of laws on similar subjects was the order of the day." * * *

Now Baboo Prosunno Coomar Tagore was a gentleman of high culture and sound education, of whose talents and abilities no one can entertain the slightest doubt. The Privy Council in their judgments have taken occasion to bestow compliments on him, speaking of him as of "that eminent lawyer, the late Baboo Prosunno Coomar Tagore." Of his sound judgment and strong common sense there could therefore be no doubt. His words in the quotation which I have emphasised apply exactly, if not with greater force, to the Bill under the consideration of this Council. It must also be remembered that the Bill under consideration in 1862 related to the registration of hackney carriages and palankeens only; but Baboo Prosunno Coomar Tagore thought it proper that it should have a wider range, and might also include the registration of coolies, and that, be it observed, for the capital of India itself. A presumption therefore arises that the registration of coolies generally, and of those at Darjeeling and Kurseong particularly, is not based on a mistaken or outrageous principle.

But the world is improving with a rapid pace, and a period of more than 20 years has elapsed since Baboo Prosunno Coomar Tagore so expressed himself, and it might be that in the interval more light has been thrown on questions of political economy, and what Baboo Prosunno Coomar Tagore in 1862 supposed to be correct even for Calcutta might now be thought for others better qualified to think to be a mistake even for hill-stations.

I beg leave to say that I agree with Baboo Prosunno Coomar Tagore, and think that any legislative measure, the object of which is the registration of coolies in this part of the country, is justified by principle, being warranted by the urgency of the occasion, taking into consideration the character of the persons who generally offer themselves for employment as coolies.

The principal question involved in the case is the extent to which the authoritative intervention of the optional functions of a civilised Government should go, and this question, when applied to the subject under present consideration, resolves itself into two questions—one of law and the other of fact. The question of law is whether the subject-matter of the Bill is one that, according to sound principles of legislation, a civilised Government ought to interfere with, or, in other words, whether this is a department of human affairs to which legislative interference should extend, that is to say, whether this is a matter in regard to which the free agency of individuals is to be controlled to a certain extent by the Legislature. The question of fact is whether, at the places for which the Bill is intended, there is sufficient evidence of such a state of things as to render legislation a matter of absolute necessity.

Now it would be out of place and a presumptuous attempt on my part to enter into the considerations of the questions of law, those questions themselves sufficiently indicating the line of legislation, and the turning point in the case will be the answer to the question of fact. I therefore pass over the questions of law and come to the question whether any necessity exists for the measure, and if so, whether the necessity is of such a character as to call for a legislative enactment.

Now in addition to what was contained in the Statement of Objects and Reasons, the Hon. Mover said as follows when introducing the Bill into the Council:—

"The necessity for legislation immediately arose in Darjeeling. That some enactment was urgently required for the protection of the public was obvious to any one who had had experience of Darjeeling in recent years, and it was probably well known to all whose friends had visited the station, or who had given any attention to the complaints of travellers in the public prints; and it would therefore be unnecessary for him to trespass at any great length on the indulgence of the Council. The rapacity and insolence of the coolies, and particularly the dandymen, of Darjeeling, had in fact reached such a point as to form a serious menace to the popularity and prosperity of the only sanitarium in this province. Even permanent residents experienced considerable difficulty in dealing with these men on reasonable terms, but visitors were absolutely at their mercy. The most extortionate rates were charged, and the service rendered in return was performed as a favour rather than as a duty. Expostulation regarding absence from work, idleness or turbulent demeanour only evoked insult, and any attempt to assert the ordinary rights of the employer resulted in the wholesale desertion of the men, who prevented others from taking their place. Since the last meeting of the Council he had received a letter on the subject from Lord Ulick Browne, the Commissioner of the Division, than whom no one took a livelier interest in all that concerned the comfort and pleasure of visitors to Darjeeling. Lord Ulick Browne wrote:—"The complaints during last season, and especially of ladies without male relatives, were worse than ever." In fact these men proceeded on the principle that the visitor's necessity was the dandyman's opportunity. He had himself witnessed a case in which an invalid, too ill to walk or ride, on the point of starting to take some fresh air, was informed by the dandymen that they declined to carry him a few hundred yards unless they were paid double the already extortionate rate paid the day before for the same service. Nor did these men make any invidious distinctions of race. He had been much impressed upon one occasion by seeing a native gentleman, who, though of spare and muscular form, was averse to pedestrian exercise, being carried round the station by five robust dandymen. And this was no idle exhibition of state, for the victim had complained bitterly of the various impositions to which he had been subjected. Visitors to Darjeeling declared that it would be a perfect place, but for the rain, the leeches, and the dandymen."

It appears to me that what is contained in the above statement is quite sufficient to make out such necessity as would justify the Bill upon sound and civilized principles of legislation. Of course different persons will come to different conclusions upon questions of fact. Every one will arrive at a conclusion in accordance with his own experience in life and his own mode of thinking. What will satisfy one may not satisfy another. But in order that the opinion might be practically worth anything, it should at least not be that of a mere theorist. People who have not had occasion to resort to coolie labour, or to something similar to that, may not be satisfied by what has been shewn to the Council of the necessity of the measure. But their opinions, although entitled to much weight in other matters, would be of no appreciable value for the present purpose.

Regard being had to what I have known of persons of a similar class as the coolies at other places, I am satisfied on the materials placed before the Council of the absolute necessity of a measure such as the one under the consideration of the Council.

I do not know what else should be shewn to the Council to justify the measure. The matter does not admit of mathematical demonstration or of statistical proof.

Before I sit down I must refer for a moment to a document which cannot be passed unnoticed on the present occasion, viz. the letter of the British Indian Association on the subject in question. I must confess that I do not find anything in that letter calculated to affect the opinion which I first expressed in the Council. Notwithstanding the arguments which have been advanced in that letter, I see no reason to alter my opinion on the Bill; and indeed after the letter has been examined what does it come to. It contains a great deal that is rather calculated to cheat the fancy and please the imagination than to appeal to reason and common sense. It indulges in vague generalities and makes copious use of expressions which sound very well to the ear. It talks of "the impressment of labour;" "the privileges of the Queen's loyal subjects;" "the helplessness of the coolie;" "his humble calling;" "the embargo on free labour;" &c., &c., and characterises the Bill as "unjust," "unfair," and "demoralizing," having for its object the "ostracism" of the coolie.

I am glad I am not knowingly abetting the initiation of a measure of the character described in the letter. The strong expressions used in the letter do not therefore affect my views.

The sting or the gist of the remonstrance contained in the letter is to be found in the following words:—"But if the well-to-do and powerful, who are in authority, or have influence over those in authority, be favoured with law to enforce the labour of the less fortunate, such legislation cannot but be regarded as unjust, unfair, and demoralizing." To my mind the fallacy of the argument contained in this passage is apparent, and that fallacy vitiates the whole of the letter which is otherwise a learned production.

It appears to me that in dealing with a measure of the kind under consideration you should rather look to the character, habits, and disposition of the coolies, the persons employed than to the class of persons employing them. If the coolies misconduct themselves at all, I would with as little hesitation vote for a law intended to relieve those not in power, as for the present Bill, that is to say, assuming that the Bill is only intended for the benefit of those in power. But I have no reason to think that the Lepchas make any distinction of class or creed. I think they are impartial in their misbehaviour, and their misconduct is accompanied with the same ease of conscience in the case of a European Secretary as in that of a private Indian gentleman.

The letter, it is remarkable, admits that the coolies do misconduct themselves, for it says "the Committee do not for a moment doubt that complaints do exist as set forth in the Statement of Objects and Reasons." But still according to it no sufficient reason exists for legislative interference in consequence of the indefinite character of the complaints, and the indefinite body of persons who are affected by it.

But it appears to me that the complaints made are of so serious a nature, and disclose the existence of such a state of things, that absolute necessity is most completely made out, and that the Bill is strictly a justifiable measure according to highest authorities in such matters.

There is one matter, however, which I must explain, viz. the bearing of my amendment relating to section 5 of the Bill, upon the motion now before the Council. Notwithstanding that I have lost the amendment, which I may be allowed to observe has not had the support even of those hon. members who have just voted against the Bill, although they themselves had brought forward certain amendments of their own, I still vote in favour of the Bill. I am, however, bound to state that if the registration of coolies had been left optional, which would have been done if my amendment had been carried out, then I would have been perfectly satisfied with the Bill. Similarly, I would have been still more satisfied if the other amendments submitted by me (at least some of them, if not all) had found favour with the Council. These amendments, the Council will be pleased to observe, comprised matters relating to the four points to which I drew the attention of the Council when the Bill was referred to the Select Committee, and these points have received at the hands of that Committee such consideration as that Committee thought them deserving of.

But regard being had to the circumstance that other branches of industry are amply open to the coolies at Darjeeling and Kurseong, I do not suppose that the provisions of the Bill would operate with any very great degree of hardship on the coolie; and there being absolute necessity for the measure arising from a consideration of the general character of the coolies, I do not see any reason for withholding my vote from the Bill in consequence of what has transpired in the Council to-day.

The motion was then put, and the following division was taken:—

Ayes 9.	Noes 2.
Hon. Mahomed Yusuf.	Hon Chunder Madhub Ghose.
Hon. Mr Caithness.	Hon. Harbuns Sahai.
Hon. Bhudeb Mookerjee.
Hon. Mr. Allen.
Col. the Hon. S. T. Trevor.
Hon. Mr. Macaulay.
Hon. Mr. Reynolds.
Hon. Mr. Dampier.
His Honor the President.

So the motion was carried, and the Bill was then passed.

CONSTRUCTION AND MAINTENANCE OF TRAMWAYS.

COLONEL THE HON. S. T. TREVOR moved that the report of the Select Committee on the Bill to authorize the making and to regulate the working of Tramways in Bengal be taken into consideration in order to the settlement of the clauses of the Bill. He said :—"It may be in the recollection of the Council that, in presenting the report of the Select Committee on this Bill on the 17th February last, I mentioned that it was necessary under the standing orders of the Legislative Department to submit the Bill to the Government of India for approval of the penal clauses which are contained in it before proceeding further with the Bill. This was done, and I had hoped we should have received the reply of the Government of India before this. But though we have not received the reply as yet, I have ventured, with the permission of His Honor the President, to bring forward the Bill for final settlement to-day, as this is the last opportunity I shall have of doing so in the present session of the Council. The penal clauses of the Bill are, as I mentioned before, identical with those of the Calcutta Tramways Act, which again have been adopted in the Kurrachee Tramways Act. They have thus already twice received the sanction of the Government of India, and there is no reason to anticipate that any objection will be made to them. It would be unfortunate if the Bill were postponed to next session, for that might be detrimental to the progress of some tramway schemes which are being promoted, and the further prosecution of which is dependent on the passing of the Bill. I drew the attention of the Council to the prinicipal changes which were made in the Bill by the Select Committee when I presented the report, and I will not therefore detain the Council by any further remarks now. I beg to move that the report be taken into consideration in order to the settlement of the clauses of the Bill."

The motion was put and agreed to.

COLONEL TREVOR also moved that the clauses of the Bill be considered for settlement in the form recommended by the Select Committee.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The HON. MAHOMED YUSUF moved that the words "a fortnight" be substituted for "two calendar months" in line 8 of the proviso marked "fourth" in section 15. He thought two months was too long a period to allow for the construction of a quarter of a mile of tramway, having regard to the amount of work to be done, and he submitted that a fortnight was sufficient for the purpose.

COLONEL THE HON. S. T. TREVOR said he was not prepared to accept the amendment. He thought two months was not too much. The first draft of the Bill fixed six weeks as the period to be allowed, and it was pointed out that that was not sufficient for the purpose, and the Select Committee altered it to two months. The roads had often to be altered and bridges to be strengthened, and it might be quite as much work to be done as could be got through in two months. He therefore thought the words two calendar months ought to be allowed to stand.

The motion was then put and negatived, and the section as it stood in the Bill was agreed to.

The HON. MAHOMED YUSUF moved that in section 28 the word "framed" be substituted for "made" in line 1, and that the words "for the information of the public and after a period of two months they shall be revised and approved by the Government and published in the Calcutta Gazette," be inserted after the words "Calcutta Gazette" in line 4. He thought it was necessary that the public should be allowed an opportunity to consider the proposed rules before they were finally passed.

COLONEL the HON. S. T. TREVOR said that on receiving notice of this amendment his attention was drawn to the resolution of the Government of India on the subject of the publication of bye-laws for at least a month before they came into force. He was therefore willing to accept the principle of the amendment, and proposed to amend the section in the following manner, and he believed his honourable friend would raise no objection to the alteration in the wording which was proposed :—

"All rules and bye-laws made under sections 13, 26, and 27, and confirmed by the local Government, shall, when so confirmed, be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and such rules and bye-laws, when so published shall, until repealed or altered, be of the same effect as if they had been inserted in this Act :—Provided that no rules and bye-laws shall be confirmed until they shall have been published for at least one month previously in the Calcutta Gazette and in one or more of the local newspapers (if any exist), which circulate in the district to which such rules and bye-laws relate."

The HON. MAHOMED YUSUF withdrew his motion in favour of COLONEL TREVOR'S amendment.

COLONEL TREVOR'S motion was put and agreed to, and the section as amended was passed.

The HON. MAHOMED YUSUF moved that in section 38 the words "except for national religious processions in connection with holidays on which Government offices are closed" be inserted after the word "section" in line 3 of the clause marked "4th." The object of this amendment, he said, was that the people should not have to pay when the running of the tramway was stopped for national religious processions. His attention was drawn to the scope of section 38, which, it was said, did not cover cases of this kind, and he was told that the proper section for the amendment was section 37. He did not object to the insertion of the words in the proper section, so long as what was contemplated in the amendment was provided for in the Bill.

COLONEL the HON. S. T. TREVOR said he was not prepared to accept the amendment. Section 38 applied to cases where the local authority had work to do on roads occupied by tramways, such as laying down pipes, &c., and had nothing to do with the stoppage of traffic for any other purpose except the work to be done. The regulation of traffic for police purposes was provided for in section 37, and that section was ample to cover all necessary powers for the purpose to which the amendment referred. The police might regulate processions, and so on, without paying compensation.

The motion was then put and negatived, and the section as it stood in the Bill was agreed to.

COLONEL THE HON. S. T. TREVOR said the second amendment of his hon. friend, the principle of which he had accepted, led to the addition of certain words in section 13, and he therefore moved that in that section the words "add to or confirm" be substituted for "or add to."

The motion was put and agreed to, and the section as amended was passed.

COLONEL THE HON. S. T. TREVOR moved that the Bill as amended be passed.

The motion was put and agreed to, and the Bill was then passed.

EXTENSION OF LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT.

On the motion of the HON. MR. MACAULAY, the Hon. Chunder Madhub Ghose was added to the Select Committee on the Bill to extend the system of Local Self-Government in Bengal.

The Council was adjourned to a day of which notice will be given.

LIBERALITY OF BABU BIPRADAS BANARJI.

No. 210, dated Calcutta, the 7th April 1883.

From—C. S. Bayley, Esq., Officiating Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal, General Department,

To—The Officiating Director of Public Instruction.

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your endorsement No. 1825, dated the 8th March 1883, with enclosures, regarding the offer made by Babu Bipradas Banarji to invest a sum of Rs. 600 in 4 per cent. Government securities, in order to found two prizes to be awarded to those boys of the first and second classes of the Baraset School who most successfully pass the quarterly examinations of the school.

2. The Lieutenant-Governor accepts the offer, and desires that his thanks may be conveyed to Babu Bipradas Banarji for his public spirit and liberality. Mr. Rivers Thompson also approves the proposal that the fund should be designated "Babu Bipradas Banarji's Quarterly Prize Fund," and that it should be administered by the head-master of the Baraset School.

No. 1825, dated Calcutta, the 8th March 1883.

Memo. by G. Bellett, Esq., Officiating Director of Public Instruction.

Copy forwarded to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, General Department, with the recommendation that the offer made by Babu Bipradas Banarji may be accepted, and the thanks of Government conveyed to him for this act of liberality and public spirit, and with the request that the correspondence on the subject may be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The head master of the Baraset School may be the administrator of the fund.

No. 204, dated Baraset, the 23rd February 1883.

From—Babu Kunja Behari Babu, Head-master, Baraset School,

To—The Inspector of Schools, Presidency Circle.

I have the honour to submit in original a letter from Babu Bipradas Banarji, an ex-pupil of the school, offering Rs. 600 in 4 per cent. Government securities for the creation of two quarterly prizes to be given to the best boys of the first and second classes. The donor wishes that the Head and Second Masters, the First Mounsif and Sub-Divisional Officer of Baraset be appointed trustees to carry out the object of the fund to be called "Babu Bipradas Banarji's Quarterly Prize Fund."

I beg you will have the goodness to accept the offer and to bring the Babu's liberality to the notice of Government.

I solicit your orders as to the officer in whose name the Government promissory notes which Babu Bipradas wants to make over should be endorsed.

No. 12, Garpar, the 20th February 1882.

From—Babu Bipradas Banarji, Government Pleader, 24-Pergunnahs,

To—The Head-master of the Baraset Government School.

I wish to make an endowment of Rs. 600 (six hundred rupees), invested in Government securities at 4 per cent., for the encouragement of the students of the first and second classes of the Baraset School. My object is that the interest be spent in giving prizes to those students who pass the quarterly examinations well. The fund is small, but as one who passed some of the best years of his life in the Education Department, I think these prizes will give some stimulus to the pupils.

The fund must remain intact. I wish that the Head and Second Masters, the First Munsif, and the Sub-Divisional Officer should be appointed trustees to carry out the object of the fund.

I leave it to you to call the prizes by what name you may think proper.

P. S.—On your expressing your desire to accept my proposal, I shall make over the securities to you or to any officer of Government in whose name they ought to be endorsed over.

No. 3577, dated Calcutta, the 28th February 1883.

Memo. by A. M. Nash, Esq., Officiating Inspector of Schools, Presidency Circle.

Forwarded in original to the Director of Public Instruction for orders.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park-street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 2·95° lower; and finally, the thermometer, which has furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during the last 20 years and upwards, is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

N.B.—In the weekly report from 25th to 31st March 1883, read 9·7lbs. instead of 97lbs. as the highest pressure of the wind on one square foot during those seven days.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL, GENERAL (MARINE) DEPARTMENT.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.—(No. 14.)

BAY OF BENGAL—GULF OF MARTABAN.

APPROACHES TO THE RANGOON RIVER.

Reported alteration of China Ba-keer Sands.

THE Port Officer, Rangoon, has notified that information has been received from the senior officer in charge of the pilot vessel Pharos of a material alteration in the position of the edge of the sand in the neighbourhood of the China Ba-keer Light-house.

The vessel, when approaching the light-house on a west-by-south direction on the last quarter flood, passed over a ridge with no soundings on it, the water thereafter shoaling quickly to 12 feet.

From examination, taken in connection with the evidence collected, it is believed that there is dangerously shoal water extending half a mile seaward of the light-house, and that there are dry sands where formerly there were 12 feet of water at lowest tides.

NOTE.—Mariners are hereby cautioned to give that part of the coast a wide berth.

By direction of the Government of Bengal,
J. MENTEITH BRESNER,
Offg. Port Officer of Calcutta.

NOTIFICATION No. 142.

The 13th April 1883.

THE following annual accounts and abstracts of the reports of the Road Cess Committees of the districts of Burdwan, Bankoora, Beerbhoom, Midnapore, and Hooghly with Howrah for the cess year 1881-82, together with the remarks thereon of the Commissioner of the Burdwan division, are published for general information.

G. F. E. S. NEILL, Major, M.S.C.,
Under-Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, P. W. Dept.

Abstract of a report by the Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Burdwan, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1881-82.

THE total demand for the year under report was Rs. 1,73,820, and the total collections amounted to Rs. 1,70,393, or 98·18 per cent of the demand.

Most of the original or new works which were undertaken by the Committee were completed during the year, and the repairs of all the existing roads, with the exception of two, were carried out satisfactorily.

Rs. 6,000 for the sudder and Rs. 3,000 for each of the other three sub-divisions were allotted for village roads, and almost the whole amount has been spent during the year.

Some new trees were planted, and the existing ones maintained on some of the most important roads in the district. A nursery was laid out at Negone on the Burdwan and Cutwa road, and the establishment of another near Burdwan is under contemplation. Considering the cost and difficulty of planting and maintaining small plants, the Committee purchased and planted 101 full-grown peepul, bur, and other trees on the 29th and 30th miles of Dewangunge and Culna road at a cost of Rs. 560.

The several establishments under the Road Cess Committee are reported to have worked satisfactorily.

Abstract of a report by the Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Bankoora, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1881-82.

THE road cess was levied at the maximum rate in the district. It was on the whole realized without much difficulty. Out of the actual demand of Rs. 35,549 from the cess on lands and mines, Rs. 29,680 were realized up to the end of the year.

The attendance of the non-official members of the District Road Committe was very far from satisfactory, as seven of them did not attend any meetings at all. Of the official members, the Executive Engineer is the only person who did not attend any meeting.

The attendance of the non-official members of the Branch Committee was also unsatisfactory.

Some important original works were carried out during the year, and the repairs to all the existing roads are reported to have been nearly finished.

The construction and improvement of village roads were carried out in the sudder sub-division by the District Road Committee, and in the Bissenpore sub-division by the Branch Committee, which has been established in that sub-division.

The planting of trees every where in the district, with a few exceptions, has been reported to have been carried out satisfactorily. Three thousand five hundred and twenty-three new trees were planted during the year, and those planted in the previous year were also maintained.

The different establishments under the Road Committee have on the whole worked satisfactorily.

J. ANDERSON,
Chairman.

Abstract of a report by the Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Beerbhoom, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1881-82.

THE collections of the district, as far as Beerbhoom is concerned, were satisfactory. The outstanding balance of Rs. 28,293 was chiefly due to arrears of cesses due from other districts, especially from Moorshedabad.

There were held 12 meetings of the Committee during the year, at two of which no quorum was obtained. The number of members who did not attend any meeting was four. The other members have taken a good deal of interest in the business of the Committee.

The roads, bridges, and culverts were maintained and kept in good order, and allotments were made and spent through village headmen for the repair of village roads in the district.

A sum of Rs. 456 was spent for maintaining the trees planted last year and for planting about 300 fresh trees during the year.

The percentage of fixed charges for establishment, including those of the Divisional Superintendent of Works and his office establishment, is a little over 17 per cent.

The different establishments under the Road Committee have worked satisfactorily.

BEERBHOOM ROAD COMMITTEE'S OFFICE,
The 2nd February 1883.

J. ARMSTRONG,
Chairman.

Abstract of a Report by the Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Midnapore, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1881-82.

The new Cess Act has now been in force for the last two years, and is, no doubt, an improvement upon the old law. People seldom pay voluntarily before the filing of certificates, and as seldom even when certificates are filed. They do not move till their moveables are actually attached, or till their estates are actually brought to the hammer, or till warrants are issued for their arrest.

The percentage of average attendance of members of the Road Cess Committee during the year was 87·7, while that of the previous year was only 36·8.

During the year under report there were seven meetings of the Branch Committee at Tumlook and four meetings at Contai.

Work on the village roads has been carried out chiefly by village punchayets under the supervision of the sub-divisional officers and the members of the Branch Committees.

Trees have been planted and maintained on the principal lines of roads in the district, and the Committee intend allotting every year funds to this end. Nurseries have been formed in convenient centres for rearing young trees for planting out.

All the roads in the district are reported to be in good order and in a much improved state.

The books and accounts of the Committee have been kept with great care and very systematically.

Consequent on the employment of a Divisional Superintendent of Works the percentage cost of establishments has been higher than that approved by Government. The different establishments under the Committee have worked satisfactorily.

Explanatory Memorandum to accompany the Annual Accounts.

Expenditure side.—In the annual account a sum of Rs. 45,453-14-4 is shown as the expenditure under the head of "Original Works" and Rs 61,018-3-7 under that of "Repairs," but by totalling the figures shown in the "Monthly Returns" against those heads, the expenditure comes to Rs. 45,488-0-1 and Rs. 60,984-1-10 respectively, that is, the expenditure under the head of "Original Works" has been decreased by Rs. 34-1-9, and that of "Repairs" increased by the same amount. The reason of this difference is that out of the materials collected and manufactured for the construction of bridges of road No 12, Dohijurree to Sildah, and the cost of which was formerly charged against the head of "Original Works," materials worth Rs. 34-1 9 have subsequently been transferred to the head of "Repairs" for repairing bridges and bungalows of road No. 8, Ladhasye to Purihatty.

Abstract of a Report by the Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Hooghly, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1881-82.

The system has on the whole worked well. The working of the Branch Committees shows that the members took a fair share of interest in their work.

All the works provided in the budget estimate were undertaken and duly completed within the cess year, with the exception of a few in the Pandooah and Serampore sub-divisions.

The general condition of the bridges in the district is fair, but that of the roads, both metalled and unmetalled, on which there was any cart traffic, is not at all satisfactory.

The village roads were repaired by the local sub-committees, zemindars, and village headmen; generally their work was satisfactory. In many instances the grants from the Committees were supplemented by local contributions

The experiment of planting fruit-trees has to some extent been successful.

The subordinate establishments of the different departments under the Road Cess Committee gave satisfaction in the discharge of their respective duties.

RAJENDROLALL DÉ,

for Chairman.

No. 78, dated Chinsurah, the 2nd March 1883.

From—JOHN BEAMES, ESQ., C S, Commissioner of the Burdwan Division,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

I HAVE the honour to submit herewith in original, for publication in the Calcutta Gazette, the annual reports and accounts of receipts and expenditure of the District Road Funds for the cess year 1881-82 of the several Road Cess Committees in this division as noted in the margin.

Bankoora Chairman's No 18, dated 13th October 1882, with enclosure
Burdwan Chairman's No 70, dated 23rd December 1882, with enclosure
Beerbhoom Chairman's No 32, dated 2nd February 1883, with enclosure
Midnapore Chairman's No 271, dated 10th February 1883, with enclosure
Hooghly Chairman's No 27, dated 19th February 1883, with enclosure

2. In the abstract account of income and expenditure of the Beerbhoom district, Rs 93 are shown as receipts under the head "Miscellaneous," but in the detailed account the total of the entries under this head comes to Rs 90-15-3. I have called on the Chairman to furnish revised figures, which will be submitted to you as soon as they are received.*

3. It is satisfactory to find that arboriculture has been going on in all the districts of this division. I regret, however, to find from the reports of inspection of roads, submitted by the Divisional Superintendent of Works, that in some districts this important subject has not received sufficient attention. Trees have been planted and then allowed to die from being insufficiently protected and not properly watered. The attention of the Committees have been called to this point.

4. In the Hooghly district works had formerly been given out in blocks to large contractors whose work had not been properly supervised by the late District Engineer. This system has now been abandoned: the works are given out in smaller blocks, and the contractors more carefully looked after.

* Revised figures have since been received and the accounts corrected accordingly.

5. I cannot endorse the remarks made by the Collector of Bankoora in paragraphs 10 and 11 of his report, as they are not borne out by the inspection reports received from the Divisional Superintendent. In Bankoora the Committee have in many cases allotted insufficient sums for roads. The work has been badly done, and the District Engineer has shown much carelessness and inattention. Contractors have not been compelled to complete their work within the time specified in their contracts, and the repair work in general in this district is much behind hand, and much of what has been done is very defective. A very careful inspection of each road has been recently made by the Divisional Superintendent, and from his reports I have had much reason to be dissatisfied with the District Engineer, and am disposed to doubt whether he is fit for the post.

6. The District Engineers in other districts have worked well during the year.

7. I am indebted to Mr. Roberts, Divisional Superintendent, for much valuable assistance. He has inspected nearly every road in the division, and I have received minute and detailed reports on them, which have enabled me effectually to supervise the work of the District Committees.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT, BENGAL.

DISTRICT ROAD FUND.

NOTIFICATION No. 143.

Dated the 16th April 1883.

THE following annual accounts and abstracts of the reports of the Road Cess Committees of the districts of Hazaribagh, Lohardugga, Manbhoom, and Singhboom, for the cess year 1881-82, together with the remarks thereon of the Commissioner of Chota Nagpore, are published for general information.

G. F. E. S. NEILL, Major, R.E.C.,

Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal, P. W. Dept.

Abstract of a Report by the Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Hazaribagh, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1881-82.

THE road cess was levied at the maximum rates in the district. The demand on account of cess on lands and mines during the year was Rs. 34,058, and the collections amounted to Rs. 34,204, the percentage being 96·36. This shews that the result of collections was fairly satisfactory, as the percentage was above the standard fixed by Government.

During the year there were four meetings held of the District Road Committee, and the attendance of the members was fairly satisfactory.

There were five meetings of the Giridi Branch Committee, the members of which are said to have taken considerable interest in the proceedings, and their attendance was fair.

Rupees 9,500 were allotted for village roads, viz. Rs. 3,000 for original works, and Rs. 6,500 for repairs. Out of this allotment Rs. 8,506 were expended during the year, i. e., Rs. 3,510 in the head-quarters sub-division, and Rs. 4,996 in the Giridi sub-division.

The cost of maintaining trees being very great, the Committee could not plant out fresh ones during the year. 14,147 trees planted out during the previous year have been maintained, and they are reported to be generally in a flourishing state. The only nursery garden kept up which is no longer required and will be shortly closed.

All the roads in the district are in a fair state of repairs and fit for wheel traffic.

The different establishments under the Road Committee are reported to have worked well and given satisfaction.

Abstract of a Report by the Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Lohardugga, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1881-82.

THE road cess is by no means unpopular in this district, and the people now understand that the money is spent for their benefit. The cess was levied at the maximum rate in the year under report, and there was no difficulty in collecting it at head-quarters, but in the Palamow sub-division the same difficulty was felt in the realization as in the previous year.

During the year there were eleven meetings held of the District Committee, of which five were special and six ordinary. In one special and two ordinary meetings no quorum was obtained. The average attendance of the members was six, against nine of the previous year, and the attendance of the non-official members during the year was very unsatisfactory. All those who attended took great interest in the proceedings; but the members of the Palamow Branch Committee shewed little interest in its affairs.

About 14 miles of village roads were maintained and eight miles opened out during the year.

The total length of roads planted out up to end of the year is 59 miles. About 4,000 trees were planted during the year, of which nearly 15 per cent were destroyed by white-ants. Those which were planted in previous years are thriving well and are in good condition.

The different establishments under the Road Committee have on the whole worked well.

Abstract of a report by the Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Manbhoom, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1881-82.

THE working of the Cess Act was on the whole satisfactory. The total demand on account of cesses for the year was Rs. 51,778, and the outstanding arrears of the previous year amounted to Rs. 10,965, making an aggregate demand of Rs. 62,743. During the year the arrears have been fully realized, and of the current demand all but Rs. 495 were collected. Of these collections Rs. 46,858 were voluntary payments, and the remainder Rs. 15,390 having been realized by certificate procedure.

A meeting of the District Road Committee was convened regularly every month, and there was no meeting without a quorum being formed. Of the 22 members (7 official and 15 non-official), three failed to attend any meeting during the year, and the average attendance at each meeting was eight.

There is no branch committee in this district. Village roads and other communications in the Gobindpore sub-division are under the management of the Sub-divisional officer. Nothing important, however, was done in this sub-division during the year under report. Village roads in the sudder sub-division have been repaired and improved by construction of rough stone culverts in several places.

The trees planted during the previous year were looked after, and a number of young trees were planted during the year along some of the main roads in the district. Nurseries were also started in the compounds of all the inspection bungalows.

There have been no changes in the working establishment during the year.

Asst. Commr. for Chairman, District Road Cess Committee, Singbhoom

CHAIBASSA,
The 2nd January 1883.

No 271DR, dated Ranchee, the 2nd March 1883.

From—J. F. K. HEWITT, Esq., Commissioner of Chota Nagpore,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

HEREWITH I beg to submit the reports and accounts received from the several District Road Committees of this division, in connection with works of local improvement done by them during the past cess year.

2. The dates on which the several reports and accounts have been received in my office are noted below—

Hazaribagh, 28th January 1883.	Manbhoom, 18th December 1882.
Lohardugga, 10th January 1883.	Singbhoom, 25th January 1883.

3. During the past year the Cess Act was in full force in the three first-named districts, while in Singbhoom a sum of Rs. 10,000 was assigned by Government in their No. 580, dated 24th July 1881, while Rs. 2,370 was received as contribution from the Dhulbhoom estate, and Rs. 711 from the Government Estate Improvement Fund.

4. In the three cess districts—Hazaribagh, Lohardugga, and Manbhoom—the road cess was levied at maximum rates.

5. The following statement shews the extent to which the meetings of the Road Committees were attended in each district during the year under report :—

DISTRICTS.	No. of members forming Committee		Number required to form a quorum.	Number of meetings held.	Number at which there was no quorum.	Average attendance of meeting.	Number of members who did not attend any meeting.	NUMBER OF MEMBERS WHO ATTENDED ONLY

6. In Hazaribagh there were altogether four meetings of the District Committee, all of which were presided over by the Chairman. The attendance of members in all these meetings was fairly satisfactory, a full quorum having been obtained at each meeting. The Branch Committee at Giridih held five meetings in which the attendance of members is reported to have been fair, while the gentlemen constituting the same are said to have taken considerable interest in the Committee's proceedings

7. In Lohardugga there were 11 meetings of the District Committee, of which five were special and six ordinary. One of the special and two of the ordinary meetings had to be adjourned for want of a quorum. The average attendance was less satisfactory than in the preceding year, being only six against nine in the preceding year. The attendance of non-official members is reported to have been very unsatisfactory, as out of twelve the names of eight had to be removed from the list of members under section 115 of the Cess Act for failure to attend six consecutive meetings. Those who attended, however, shewed much interest in the proceedings. In Palamow the Branch Committee attended seven meetings, in one of which there was no quorum. The average attendance in Palamow was six. The Assistant Commissioner of Palamow writes that the non-official members of this Branch Committee take very little interest in the proceedings.

8. In Manbhoom the number of meetings held by the District Committee was 13, in all of which a full quorum was obtained. The average attendance in this district was eight. There is no Branch Committee in the Govindpore sub-division of this district, the sub-divisional officer being in charge of the roads in the sub-division.

9. The Singbhoom Road Committee held only three meetings in which the average attendance exceeded seven. The Chairman's report does not shew whether the non-official members of this Committee took any real interest in its proceedings.

10. The following table shews in a convenient form the arrear and current demands as well as percentage of collections on current and arrear demands of the three cess districts of this division :—

DISTRICTS.	DEMAND.		COLLECTION.		Total demand.	Total collections.	Percentage of collections on arrear demand.
	Arrear.	Current.	Arrear.	Current.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Hazaribagh	855	34,658	831	33,820	35,493	34,351	99·11
Lohardugga	1,018	45,774	1,015	44,869	46,789	45,884	100·02
Manbhoom	6,776	30,781	6,776	30,456	37,497	37,232	121·01
Total ...	8,629	1,11,163	8,622	1,09,845	1,19,679	1,17,467	105·

11. It will be seen from the figures in the above table that the collections of the past year were highly satisfactory, being over 105 per cent. of the total current divisional demand. The best results are shewn in the two districts of Lohardugga and Manbhoom being over 100 and 121 per cent., of the current demand, while the collections in the Hazaribagh district are over 99 per cent. of the total current demand.

12. The following table shews the percentage of the total cost of all sorts of establishments, including contingencies on the total of the actual demands in the three cess districts of the division :—

District.	Actual demand of the quarter.				Total cost of establishment, including contingencies.	Percentage cost of establishment on total demand.
	Cess on land.	Cess on mines.	Miscellaneous receipts.	Total.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Hazaribagh	30,646	3,902	4,379	39,027	10,180	26·09
Lohardugga	45,761	13	2,515	48,289	15,054	31·17
Manbhoom	29,997	834	4,044	34,774	9,006	25 89

13. The above figures shew that the cost of establishments, including contingencies, has exceeded 25 per cent. of the total current demand in all the districts. This increase in the cost is owing solely to the inclusion of the cost of the re-valuation establishments entertained in the districts during the year under review. Exclusive of this cost, the figures for the three districts are as follow :—

Districts.	Total demand	Cost of establishment.			Percentage.
	Rs.	Rs.
Hazaribagh	39,027	10,180	1,002	3,488	21·74
Lohardugga	48,289	15,054	5,579	9,475	19·63
Manbhoom	34,774	9,006	2,222	6,783	19 50

14. The following statement shews the total funds at the disposal of each Committee, including balance of previous years and suspense accounts, together with the percentages of the costs of different establishments :—

District.	Total income of the year.	Total cost of establishment.	Percentage of cost of income.	Total revenue under the Cess Act.	Cost of establishment and contingencies of office collections.	Percentage.	Expenditure on works.	Cost of establishment on works.	Percentage.

Singbhoom	19,607	1,483	7·05	....	.....	.....	3,233	1,345	41·6

15. It will be seen from the above that the amount actually spent on works is comparatively very small in the two districts of Manbhoom and Singbhoom, while the percentage of expenditure on establishment is disproportionately high.

16. Original works.—In Hazaribagh, exclusive of Rs. 2,025 spent on village roads, the construction of five culverts in the Hazaribagh and Chattra road, and the building of three inspection bungalows in the places noted on the margin, is all that has been done under the head of original works. The provision in the sanctioned budget of the year under the head was Rs. 12,300, of which only Rs. 5,813, or about 47·2 per cent., has been spent. In the Khurruckdiha and Giridih road Rs. 2,000 were provided for original works. Only materials necessary for the construction of culverts in this road have been collected and manufactured during the year. The two roads, Burhi to Gowan and Ramghur to Joynuggur, were surveyed and levelled during the year, and their estimates are under preparation.

1. Koderma in the Burhi to Gowan road.
2. Tandwa on the old Ranchee road.
3. Hunterguage, Baloomath, and Sahurghatty road

17. In Lohardugga the total amount provided in the year's budget for original works was Rs. 18,055, out of which Rs. 7,577, or about 41·9 per cent., have been spent in completing two permanent masonry bridges, each of 12 feet span, and one of two spans of 25 feet each, built up to springing level in the previous year, with the exception of the parapets and pointing. Some earthworks, turfing, and temporary bridges have also been made, while the Ranchee and Tarai and Lateyhar and Moharajgunge roads have been surveyed, and a nursery for seedlings started.

18. In Manbhoom no provision was made in the budget for original works, and consequently none were undertaken.

19. In Singbhoom there was a budget provision of Rs. 2,152 under the head, out of which Rs. 2,110, or about 98 per cent, have been spent in the construction of 23 arched masonry culverts in the Bandgawan and Midnapore roads.

20. Repairs.—Under the head of repairs there was a budget provision of Rs. 36,956 for expenditure during the year under review in the Hazaribagh district, of which Rs. 31,828, or about 86·3 per cent., was expended as detailed on the margin. The Deputy Commissioner of Hazaribagh, as Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, reports that the works remaining unfinished in some of the roads in the preceding year were completed and paid for during the year under report, hence the expenditure against some of the roads has exceeded the budget grant, while the shortness of the expenditure in some of the other roads has been explained to be owing to the non-payment of certain bills for want of sufficient funds to the credit of the Committee.

	Rs.
Repairs of roads	21,843
,, of staging bungalow } ,, of office building ... }	692
Maintenance of trees	2,711
,, of village roads	6,482

21. In Lohardugga there was a budget provision of Rs. 21,361 while the actual expenditure on repairs amounted to Rs. 30,310 in whole figures, Rs. 24,407 having been spent on repairs of district roads, Rs. 5,824 on repairs of village roads, and Rs. 79 on repairs of office building. A sum of Rs. 7,241 was transferred from original works to repairs, whilst the unexpended balance of the previous year's budget was also spent during the year under review. The principal works done in this district consisted of substantial repairs to 180 miles of roads, renewal of 200 temporary bridges, and the fencing of 41 miles of roads. The Chairman reports that owing to the uncertainty which still exists of the lines which the Nagpore Railway and other proposed railways are to take, the Committee's proceedings are much hampered at present, as it is not considered advisable to spend money on lines which, however important now, might be entirely closed if a railway is constructed.

22. In Manbhoom the total amount provided in the sanctioned budget of the year was Rs. 17,350, out of which only Rs. 10,426 was spent during the year under report, viz. Rs. 7,902 on repairs of district roads, Rs. 530 on repairs of inspection bungalows, and Rs. 1,499 on village roads, while Rs. 403 were spent on tree-planting, and Rs. 108 on the repairs of a bund. The above figures do not, however, indicate the actual work done in this district during the past year. This is shewn in the appendix marked B attached to the Chairman's report, and amounts to a total of Rs. 18,304

23. In Singbhoom, a sum of Rs. 1,122 only was spent on repairs of roads, out of which Rs. 269 was spent on village roads. The whole expenditure represents even less than a sixth of the amount provided in the sanctioned budget. No explanation has been submitted of this small expenditure.

24. The expenditure on village roads is shewn in the statement below—

District.	Estimated amount for expenditure on village roads.	Actual expenditure on village roads.	Total amount spent on all sorts of works.	Percentage of actual expenditure on village roads on estimate.	Percentage of total amount spent on village roads on total expenditure on all works.

Manbhoom	2,500	1,499	12,701	60	11·8

Total ...	14,743	16,098	91,361	109·2	17·6

25. As compared with the previous year a greater attention seems to have been paid on village roads in all the districts except Manbhoom. The total divisional expenditure amounted to Rs. 16,098 against Rs. 15,293 in the previous year.

26. Tree planting.—No new trees were planted by the Hazaribagh Committee during the past year, as the cost of maintaining those planted in previous years has been very great.

27. In Lohardugga the work of tree-planting has been extended over 18 miles of roads. About 4,000 trees were planted during the year under review, of which nearly 15 per cent. were destroyed by whiteants.

28. In Manbhoom a number of young trees were planted during the year along some of the main roads, while those planted in previous years were also looked after. Nurseries have also been started in the compounds of all the inspection bungalows.

29. In Singbhoom 1,100 mango and jack fruit trees were planted and enclosed with fencing by the District Road Committee, while some of the zemindars and chiefs have been reported to have planted other trees along three roads.

30. The different establishments employed in the several districts have been reported to have worked well during the past year.

ANNUAL REPORT ON THE CALCUTTA COURT OF SMALL CAUSES FOR 1882.

JUDICIAL

Darjeeling, the 12th April 1883.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Report on the Calcutta Court of Small Causes for the year 1882.

THE law regulating the constitution, powers, and procedure of the Court was amended during the year by the Presidency Small Cause Courts' Act XV of 1882, which came into force on the 1st of July last. Among the changes made, the most important was the extension of the Court's pecuniary jurisdiction from Rs. 1,000 to Rs. 2,000. The large number of suits exceeding Rs. 1,000 in value, which has been already instituted, shows that this provision has been acceptable to the mercantile and trading community, and is appreciated. The application of certain portions of the Code of Civil Procedure to the Court has also caused some modification of its procedure. The Judges report that the new procedure is less simple, and entails more trouble on suitors than that formerly observed, but they do not advocate a return to the old practice. Parties were formerly permitted to appear by "a relative, servant, or member of his establishment in his exclusive employ:" now they must attend personally, or be represented by a pleader, unless they reside beyond the limits of the Court's local jurisdiction, in which case they may appear by a recognized agent. This constitutes the main difference between the old and the new procedure, and the Lieutenant-Governor does not consider it of sufficient importance to justify any recommendation for the amendment of the present law, especially within so short a period after its enactment. The more frequent necessity for the employment of a pleader, under which the suitors now lie, doubtless tends to increase their expenses; but the number of legal practitioners is already so large, and the competition among them necessarily so great, that the charge for their services cannot ordinarily add much to the cost of prosecuting a claim in the Court. The Lieutenant-Governor has, moreover, recommended, in connection with the amendment of the Court Fees' Act, which has been for some time under consideration, a reduction of the fee chargeable on the documents by which pleaders are authorized to appear in cases, and some relief will be given to suitors if this suggestion is adopted.

2. The number of suits which came before the Court in the last two years, and the manner in which they were disposed of, are shown in the following statement:—

	1882.	1881.
Pending from the previous year	1,333	1,288
Instituted during the year	29,553	34,108
	30,886	35,396
Decreed in favour of the plaintiff after contest ...	4,397	5,185
Ditto ditto without ditto ...	8,141	9,326
Dismissed after trial	1,358	1,431
Nonsuited or withdrawn	1,641	2,398
Compromised	11,040	12,586
Struck off or dismissed for default of plaintiff ...	2,704	3,085
Dismissed uncontested	48	52
Pending at the close of the year	1,557	1,333
	30,886	35,396

There was thus a decline of 4,555 in the number of suits instituted in the past year. The decrease occurred in suits of all values, with the exception only of those for sums exceeding Rs. 1,000, but it was most marked in claims for less than Rs. 50. The institution of small suits appears to have been temporarily checked by the new procedure, but the Judges remark that "as the people became more accustomed to the change, suits began to increase, until, for a month or so before the Doorga Poojah holidays, the files became choked with the rush that usually takes place about that time." Suits for sums above Rs. 1,000 exceeded the number anticipated. Before the 1st of July 34 suits of this kind were instituted by abandoning the excess in each case, but in the subsequent half-year the number rose to 134. The total number for trial during the year was thus 168. Generally it is said, in explanation of the fewer institutions, that a class of cases which were numerous and often for considerable sums are excluded by the new Act; that the year 1882 was prosperous and diminished litigation; and that the introduction of the new Code has not caused any decrease in suits above Rs. 50.

3. Notwithstanding the great reduction in the number of suits and of contested cases, the past year actually closed with larger arrears than its predecessor. This result, in itself not satisfactory, is thus accounted for by the Judges. The Chief Judge, who formerly tried all suits above Rs. 500, is now obliged to confine himself to suits above Rs. 1,000, and to allot a certain proportion of the former to each of the Judges. Each Judge is, therefore, called upon at present to try cases of a higher value than those previously falling to his share, and, as the time occupied by contested cases usually increases with the amount of the claim, the decrease in the number of suits has caused no real reduction in the amount of work. The new procedure has, further, given rise to a class of applications never received previously, in the disposal of which a good deal of time is absorbed: and this seems especially to be the case in the Court of the Registrar. The following account of the daily routine of work in each Judge's Court, furnished in a recent paper published by one of the Judges, shows how large a portion of the day is occupied with uncontested cases and applications before the contested cases are reached:—

"The Courts sit daily at 11 o'clock, and the practice in Calcutta is first of all to revise the board,—i.e., to call each case in its order, beginning with the summons cases. If the case is contested, the parties are told to stand down: if the defendant appears and admits the claim, the case is at once disposed of: if the defendant is absent, the plaintiff has to prove service of summons and the particulars of his claim, and he gets his decree: if the summons has not been served, he gets a second summons, and the case must be adjourned for a week or two at least to allow for the service of the second summons: if the case is compromised, the terms of the compromise have to be recorded. No procedure could be simpler than this, and allowing that two-thirds of the cases on each day's board go off in this way, the mere manual labour of recording the particulars and orders in each case takes some time. Each plaintiff and witness has to be sworn or solemnly affirmed and examined; books, vouchers, and accounts have to be examined: calculations have to be made: questions of limitation and stamp-duty crop up, and have to be enquired into and decided: applications for instalments, in cases where the claims are admitted, have to be decided. These are frequently opposed, and then the reasonableness of the application has to be enquired into and evidence taken. Then miscellaneous applications of all kinds, in contested and non-contested cases, are made, argued, and decided. So that by the time all this business is disposed of, one-third at least of the working day is gone. The first two hours of every day are occupied in this way alone, and there is no time wasted or lost. Now no statistics can ever show the character, importance, or amount of this work. But every suitor and legal practitioner is acquainted with it. When all this work has been got through, the Judges get to their contested cases—i. e. cases defended either on the facts or the law or both.

The contested cases, again, are often fought out at considerable length, and when this happens the rest of the cases for the day, and even some of those for the following day, have frequently to be postponed, and an embarrassing accumulation of work ensues.

4. The Lieutenant-Governor accepts the explanation given in the report that the increase of arrears at the end of the past year indicates no slackening of work on the part of the Judges. The new law for the Presidency Small Cause Courts has been in operation only for six months of the year under review, and it would be premature to adopt any general conclusions from so short a period; but the Judges are aware that the Lieutenant-Governor has already recommended to the Government of India, on grounds which present results in some measure justify, the appointment of another Judge to the Court; and if the number of suits instituted again rises, and the arrears continue to increase from causes which are beyond the control of the Court as at present constituted, he will renew this recommendation. The receipts from fees would still leave a considerable surplus after provision for the additional expenditure; and it is essential that in a Court, whose chief recommendation is a speedy disposal of causes, the staff of Judges should be sufficiently large to prevent delays in decision or accumulation of arrears. The Lieutenant-Governor observes with regret that the average duration of contested cases in the Court has risen from 31·3 to 54·8 days within the last two years.

5. The decrease in litigation in the past year occurred in every description of suits except those on verbal contracts and interpleader claims. The former rose from 2,563 to 3,079, but no adequate reason for the increase has been ascertained. Interpleader suits increased by 40, apparently owing to the classification of claims to attached property under this head in the returns for the year. Realizations under decrees were more satisfactory than formerly, from the greater facilities for execution which the new procedure supplies. The Judges state that the litigation of the year shows an increased tendency on the part of the trading community to deal in purely speculative contracts. "Formerly," they observe, "such classes of contracts were confined to Government securities (the amount generally being Rs. 25,000) or to shares; now we find they have been extended to gunny-bags and yellow metal, the contention of the parties in many of these cases not being an actual bonâ fide sale on one side or a purchase on the other, but simply to recover the difference, if any, of the market value of the goods on the date of delivery."

6. The amount in litigation during the year was Rs. 18,28,343, being nearly one lakh of rupees more than in 1881. The total fees realised were Rs. 2,77,111, and the net sum credited to Government was Rs. 66,701, after payment of the Judges' salaries and all other charges, amounting to Rs. 2,10,410.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the above Resolution be communicated to the Judges of the Calcutta Court of Small Causes.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

F. B. PEACOCK,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

METEOROLOGICAL OFFICE, BENGAL,
The 16th April 1883.

JOHN ELIOT,
Meteorological Reporter to the Government of Bengal.

SUMMARY.

THE following table gives the average rainfall and the normal average rainfall for the first six days of April of the seven Meteorological areas into which the province may be divided :—

Meteorological Divisions.	Normal average rainfall, April 1st—6th.	Average rainfall for period 1st to 6th April 1883	Percentage of actual to normal average.
Orissa	·25	·24	96
South-West Bengal	·33	·13	40
East Bengal	·52	·16	30
North Bengal	·55	·01	2
North Behar	·08	Nil	—
South Behar	·06	Nil	—
Chutia Nagpore	·08	Nil	—

The rainfall of April is always irregular in its occurrence and distribution. It is usually due to brief thunder-storms which are generally more or less local in character, although they occur during periods of general slight atmospheric disturbance over the whole province. The general cause of these electric and atmospheric disturbances is the convergence of three strong currents of air, differing considerably in character, towards Bengal—one is the warm, moist, southerly current from the head of the Bay ; the second is the hot and dry westerly current from the Gangetic plain ; and the third is a moderately cool, easterly current down the Assam valley, and perhaps down the upper river valleys in Cachar. One result of this convergence is occasionally ascensional movement of the moist southerly current, and therefore rainfall, and another is the intermingling of the dry and moist currents. This last action mainly gives rise to the electrical phenomena of the storms.

These storms apparently originate in the hills of Eastern, Northern and Western Bengal, and descend towards Central and Southern Bengal. They are most frequent in Eastern Bengal, and the rainfall of April (due almost entirely to them) varies from an average of four to five inches in Eastern Bengal to one to two inches in Western Bengal In Behar and Chutia Nagpore thunder-storms occur much more rarely, and give an average of barely half an inch of rain for the month.

In the first week of April 1883 a sort of thunder-storms occurred on the 2nd and 3rd over a narrowish area stretching from Burdwan to Commillah (including the Hooghly, Howrah districts, the 24-Pergunnahs, the Jessore, Khoolna, Furreedpore, Dacca, and Commillah districts), and a second series on the 5th in Orissa. The rainfall of the week was almost entirely due to these storms.

In Bengal the week was a dry one. The rainfall of the week was only 24 per cent. of the normal rainfall. The deficiency was greatest in Northern Bengal, where the only rain that fell consisted of a few light showers at the foot of the hills in the Cooch Behar district.

No rain fell in Behar and Chutia Nagpore, where the air was unusually hot and dry.

SUMMARY.

The past week (April 6th to the 13th) has been unusually dry and no rain has fallen in any part of the province, excepting in the Rungpore, Cooch Behar and Julpigoree districts. Light moderate showers occurred in three districts on the 13th.

The following table shews the average and normal average rainfall of the various divisions of the province for the first thirteen days of the month:—

The mean pressure, temperature &c are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

APPROACHES TO THE RANGOON RIVER.

Reported alteration of China Ba-keer Sands.

THE Port Officer, Rangoon, has notified that information has been received from the senior officer in charge of the pilot vessel Pharos of a material alteration in the position of the edge of the sand in the neighbourhood of the China Ba-keer Light-house.

The vessel, when approaching the light-house on a west-by-south direction on the last quarter flood, passed over a ridge with no soundings on it, the water thereafter shoaling quickly to 12 feet.

From examination, taken in connection with the evidence collected, it is believed that there is dangerously shoal water extending half a mile seaward of the light-house, and that there are dry sands where formerly there were 12 feet of water at lowest tides.

NOTE.—Mariners are hereby cautioned to give that part of the coast a wide berth.

By direction of the Government of Bengal,

J. MENTEITH BARBNER,
Offg. Port Officer of Calcutta.

Set-off.

28. When a defendant is desirous of setting off any sum under section 111 of the Code, he shall file in Court the particulars of such set-off at least two clear days before the returnable date of the summons, unless the Court shall fix some other day for filing the same, and shall furnish the plaintiff with a copy of the same.

37. RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON ROAD AND PUBLIC WORKS CESS OPERATIONS FOR THE CESS YEAR 1881-82.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT—ROAD CESS.

Darjeeling, the 14th April 1883.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Report of the Board of Revenue on Road and Public Works Cess operations for the cess year 1881-82.

Read again—

The Report for 1880-81, and the Resolution recorded upon it.

The year under review was the second year in which the Cess Act IX (B.C.) of 1880 was in force, and a comparison may now fairly be instituted between the results of the new system, and those of the operations under the old Act. The general result appears in the following table:—

YEAR	DEMAND.			BALANCE			Deduct remissions	Net arrears	Percentage on gross demand of net balance
	Current.	Arrear.	Total.	Current.	Arrear	Total
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs	Rs.
1878-79	67 41,772	10,33,637	77,75,209	8,54,891	1,78,935	10,33 446	11,442	10 22,004	13 2
1879-80 ...	68,97,577	10,12,829	78 80,206	7,69,113	1,74,934	9 44,047	21,289	9,22,758	11 7
1880-81	69,14 887	9,22,061	78,36,628	10 00,320	1,84,826	11,91,152	17,523	11,73,629	14 9
1881-82	70,10,904	11,71,068	81,82,056	9,54,818	1,92,233	11,47,051	10,941	11,36,110	13 8

The current demand of the year under the head of Road Cess rose from Rs. 34,09,433 to Rs. 34,57,381, while the Public Works Cess rose from Rs. 35,05,154 to Rs. 35,53,610, the total increase amounting to Rs. 96,407. This was wholly due to re-valuations, no change having been made during the year in any district in the rates at which either of the cesses was levied. The balance outstanding at the close of the year was Rs. 11,36,110 against Rs. 11,71,062 outstanding at the close of the previous year, and the percentage borne by the net balance to the gross demand was reduced from 14·9 to 13 8. This reduction is satisfactory in so far as it shows a reduction in the current balance as compared with the large proportion of the current demand outstanding at the close of the previous year. It is, however, not satisfactory that, notwithstanding the powers conferred under the certificate procedure, the arrear balance should still be larger than in either of the two years before this procedure came into force. In the Resolution on the last report, the Lieutenant-Governor remarked that, though this procedure might not always be effectual for the realization of all dues within the year to which they belong, nevertheless, as it admits of the seizure of the immoveable property, and even of the person of the defaulter, it should be sufficient to ensure that no arrears of one year should remain unrealized at the close of the next. Special circumstances, such as are reported from Moorshedabad and Rajshahye, must be taken in explanation of failure to realize all arrears of more than one year's standing; but, speaking generally, the Lieutenant-Governor cannot consider it satisfactory that, notwithstanding the powers with which Collectors are now armed, no less a sum than Rs. 1,92,233 should remain outstanding for more than twelve months.

2. A marked improvement is observable in many districts in the collections of 1881-82 as compared with those of 1880-81. The Board point out that the improved results have followed upon indifferent collections in the previous year. It is obvious, as was remarked in the Resolution on the report for 1879-80, that to attain a high place on a list framed for the comparison of gross collections with current demand, a previous accumulation of arrears, from whatever cause, is necessary, and that an officer who has considerable arrears to collect as well as the current demand, may show good results, though the current collections may not have been really satisfactory, while an officer who has practically collected all the Government dues, but who had no arrears to start with, may appear to have done inferior work. This fact is strongly brought out by the figures supplied by this report. The Durbhunga and Mozufferpore districts opened the year with arrear balances of Rs. 1,00,773 and Rs. 71,895 respectively. They collected during the year Rs. 75,555 and Rs. 60,017 on account of those balances. On the other hand, out of net demands for the current year of Rs 3,22,671 and Rs. 2,71,814 respectively, they collected only Rs. 2,68,094 and Rs. 2,22,298. The final result, however, of comparing gross collections (including advance payments for the next year) with current demand, is that these districts show percentages of 104·5 and 103 8 respectively. On the other hand, Purneah, which out of a net demand on account of the current year of Rs. 1,34,892 collected Rs. 1,29,580, but opened the year with an arrear balance of Rs. 6,260 only, of which it collected Rs. 5,426, appears as the worst district of all, with a percentage of 85·1. Nevertheless, the arrear balances at the close of the year were—Durbhunga, Rs. 25,218; Mozufferpore, Rs. 11,878; and Purneah, Rs. 834. The Lieutenant-Governor does not in any way wish to depreciate the excellent work done by the Collectors of Durbhunga and Mozufferpore in reducing their arrear balance. But, as the first test adopted in the Board's report is not only "partial and imperfect," as the Board admit, but positively misleading, the Lieutenant-Governor thinks it would be better to adopt three tests only, i.e. comparison of the arrear collections with arrear balances, comparison of current collections with net current demand, and comparison of advance payments. On the whole, however, and after making allowance for the fact that the year opened with excessive balances outstanding, the Lieutenant-Governor has much pleasure in endorsing the Board's remark that in many districts active and successful efforts were made to reduce the balances.

3. The reduction of the arrear balances is a more material test than any other of the success of the year's operations. Judged by this standard, the districts of Beerbhoom (100), Julpigoree (100), Pooree (100), Lohardugga (100), Manbhoom (100), Maldah (99·6), Jessore (99·5), Chumparum (99·5), Hazaribagh (99·5), Tipperah (99·3), and Gya (99·3) show the most satisfactory results. In Sarun, Backergunge, Midnapore, Mozufferpore, Patna, and Durbungha, where the outstandings were particularly heavy, good progress was made. On the other hand, the figures received from Bhagulpore, Furreedpore, Burdwan, and Cuttack indicate shortcomings in this respect. In Moorshedabad and Rajshahye the short realizations are again attributable to the Nashipore Ward's Estate, which is still out of funds and unable to pay. It is stated, however, that there are hopes of clearing off these arrears within the current year.

4. In the realization of the current demand the best work was done in Manbhoom (99·1), Lohardugga (98), Chumparun (96·8), Hazaribagh (96·7), Purneah (96), Gya (95·3), Mymensingh (95), and Pooree (95); and the worst in Furreedpore (68·8), Dacca (68·9), Sarun (70·1), Midnapore (70·3), Backergunge (70·4), and Balasore (73·2). In regard to Dacca, the Board "presume that the increased assessment imposed in consequence of the recent re valuation is the principal reason of the large outstanding balance" Re-valuations resulting in a considerable increase of the assessment were, however, made in several other districts, including Maldah, Mymensingh, Manbhoom, Julpigoree, Hooghly, and others, in all of which the collections, both arrear and current, were fully up to the mark. It is worthy of note that, while in every other district the summary procedure for the valuation of estates paying less than Rs. 100 was very sparingly resorted to, in Dacca it was employed in no less than 6,241 estates, out of a total of 6,246. It is impossible to say, from the facts now before Government, that the wholesale use of the summary procedure and the growth of the current balance, are connected with each other in the relations of cause and effect; but the coincidence is striking, and the matter is deserving of enquiry. The Lieutenant-Governor also observes that in this district the proportion of the arrear balance collected during the year was only 75·9 per cent., which is considerably below the general average of the Province. The Board would do well to ascertain whether any special difficulties exist in regard to the collection of the cesses in Dacca. The proportion of certificates fully discharged to the number issued is remarkably small, and it is possible that the difficulty of testing objections may be responsible for this. The Lieutenant-Governor will be glad if the Board will, with future reports, submit statements shewing for each district (1) the number of estates and tenures and the number of recorded shareholders; (2) the number of objections lodged against certificates and the number disposed of.

5. On the 30th September 1882 the outstanding balance, both arrear and current, was Rs. 11,36,110. On the 31st December this had been reduced to Rs. 6,74,126. The districts in which the best progress was made in clearing off the arrears were—

District.	Balances outstanding on 30th September 1882.	Balances outstanding on 31st December 1882.
	Rs	Rs.
Jessore	31,219	5 347
Dinagepore	20,050	2,448
Rungpore	41,521	7,388
Julpigoree	10,089	2,968
Noakholly	21,425	5,657
Tipperah	25,919	4,603
Gya	17,831	5,832

The progress made in Burdwan, Bankoora, Pubna, Dacca, Furreedpore, Shahabad, and Durbhunga was insufficient, and the Lieutenant-Governor hopes that greater energy will be shewn by the Collectors of these districts during the remainder of the current year.

6. The Public Demands Recovery Act was extensively put in force during the year. No less than 93,745 certificates were filed, and an equal number of notices served on defaulters. Eighty thousand four hundred and eighty-one cess certificates were disposed of during the year; in 47,340 cases payment was made on the mere issue of notice; in 12,328 on the attachment of moveable, and in 16,612 cases of immoveable property; and in 2,541 cases only was it necessary to have recourse to actual sale of the property attached. Out of the immense number of certificates issued, only 120 were cancelled on objection throughout the whole province—a result which, as the Board justly observe, shows that "the ample powers vested in the local officers by the Act have been exercised with proper discretion." It appears, however, to be a question whether, in view of the comparatively small number of cases in which the coercive functions of the Act are brought into play, some measures should not be taken to relieve the district officers in some degree from the enormous mass of clerical labour which the present system involves. The Board suggest an optional procedure under which, in the case of petty arrears, the Collector should be able to realize at once, by the issue of summary process against moveable property only, the present procedure remaining intact to meet cases in which the arrears are considerable. The question has recently been brought to the notice of the Lieutenant Governor more than once in connection with other matters, and he desires that the Board will submit a full report on the subject, after consulting district and divisional officers upon the practical difficulties they now feel.

7. Re valuations were made during the year of the assessments of Julpigoree, Muldah and Manbhoom, and of parts of Monghyr, Bhagulpore, Patna, Durbhunga, Sarun and Hazaribagh. All these districts are to be completely re-valued. Partial re-valuations are in progress in Mymensing, Hooghly, Dacca, Jessore, Beerbhoom and 24-Pergunnahs. The operations have everywhere resulted in a net increase in the valuation and assessment, though, as might have been expected, those proprietors who applied suo motu for revaluation have in many cases obtained a decrease. The work appears, generally speaking, to have been carefully done, especially in Hooghly, where the result of the operations is creditable to the Deputy Collector, Baboo Bemola Churn Bhattacharjee.

8. The names of the officers who have been favourably noticed by the Board will be communicated to the Appointment Department. Those specially commended are Mr. Quinn, Mr Manson and Colonel Morton. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to express his acknowledgments to the Board for the efficient supervision exercised by them during the year over this branch of the administration.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the Resolution, and of the Board's Report, be submitted to the Government of India, in the Department of Finance and Commerce, for information.

Ordered further that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Board of Revenue for information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

COLMAN MACAULAY,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON LUNATIC ASYLUMS IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1882.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MEDICAL.

Darjeeling, the 16th April 1883.

RESOLUTION.

The Report on the Lunatic Asylums in Bengal for 1882.

The Report for 1881, and the Resolution recorded upon it.

The administration of the lunatic asylums in Bengal during 1882 was marked by no features of exceptional interest or importance. The Report is a record of normal conditions and the performance of routine duties. Such fluctuations as are chronicled in the returns are nothing more than must be expected from year to year; they indicate no special causes, and call for no special remark. The number of admissions into the asylums during the year, which had shown a small rise in 1880 and again in 1881, has fallen to 165, which is the smallest number on record, and is less by 23 than that of the previous year. The decrease was most marked in the case of women, of whom only 21 were admitted in 1882 against 38 in the previous year. The number of re-admissions was 23 against 25 in 1881, and the daily average population of the asylums was 867·12 against 870·24. The decrease seems to show that, contrary to expectation, the effect of the orders of Government restricting the admission of non-criminal and harmless patients is not yet entirely exhausted.

2. The number of lunatics discharged cured was 83 against 93 in 1881. The Surgeon-General points out that in the Dullunda Asylum 6 persons, who were fit for discharge, suffered undue detention, and remained in custody at the close of the year. This matter was separately reported to Government by the Surgeon-General, who explained that the cause of detention was that on several consecutive occasions a sufficient number of visitors had not attended to form a quorum for the discharge of recovered lunatics. Orders were promptly issued by Government for the discharge of the 6 persons referred to, who were set at large shortly after the close of the year, and measures were taken to prevent the recurrence of so grave an irregularity. The number of official visitors is sufficiently large to secure the regular attendance of a quorum at each monthly inspection, and gentlemen who have accepted the position should not lightly ignore its responsibilities. During the year, 34 lunatics were transferred to the care of friends, 87 died, and 2 escaped. The number remaining in the asylums at the close of the year was 849, viz. 663 males and 186 females, against 868 remaining at the close of 1881. The proportion of recoveries calculated upon average strength was 9·57 against 10·6 in the previous year, and 8·27 in 1880. The decrease in the percentage of recoveries in the year under review was due to the converse of the cause which led to the increase in 1881, viz. the falling off in the number of admissions for acute mania. These fell from 99 to 69, or by nearly 50 per cent. The percentage of recoveries on total cases treated was, in the case of acute mania 17·5, chronic mania 4·08, melancholia 5·06, acute dementia 8·33, and chronic dementia 5·35. These percentages are higher in every case than the corresponding proportions in 1881, except in the case of chronic mania. The Surgeon-General, however, does not think that complete uniformity exists in the various asylums in the diagnosis of different forms of mental disease, and the returns can only be regarded as approximately accurate. Changes of policy in nomenclature seem to have occurred during the last two years at Patna and Berhampore. The number of deaths from the two forms of mania in the former asylum was 13 out of 155 cases treated, and in the latter, 10 out of 149. The percentages in these asylums were therefore 8·38 and 6·71 respectively, against a general percentage of 7·93 in the year under report, and of 7·13 in the year previous. These figures tend to show, pro tanto, that the number of cases assigned to mania, whether acute or chronic, is somewhat too great in Patna and somewhat too small at Berhampore.

3. The number of lunatics confined in the several asylums was always below the capacity of the buildings calculated at the rate of 50 superficial feet for each lunatic, except for limited periods at Dacca and Cuttack. It has been explained in previous reports that there is no real overcrowding in either of these institutions, as harmless lunatics are allowed to sleep in the verandahs, which are not included in the estimate of capacity. The following table shows the number and disposal of criminal lunatics in the asylums in Bengal during the last 11 years:—

The return which was given in the report for last year, showing the offences with which the criminal lunatics then in confinement were charged, has not been repeated in the present report. The table was interesting, and the Lieutenant-Governor thinks it would be well to include it in future, provided this can be done without difficulty. The statement given above shows that the number of criminal lunatics is steadily increasing, though not at a very rapid rate The Surgeon-General does not think there is anything in the returns to contravene the opinion expressed in the last report, that the restrictions placed on the admission of harmless and non-criminal lunatics has not resulted in any appreciable increase of crime. In the absence of returns showing the offences of which the increased number of criminal lunatics were guilty, the Lieutenant-Governor is unable to express any opinion on the subject. The tendency of the admissions during the last few years appears to bear out the Surgeon-General's conclusions.

4. The following table shows the number of cases in which the cause of insanity is attributed to intemperance and the use of drugs:—

Berhampore	8	9	.....	6
Total ...	81	66	9	32

Of the 66 admissions from ganja, 42 recovered. The Surgeon-General makes the following remarks in this connection, with which the Lieutenant-Governor agrees:—

"It appears from these figures that wherever there is most information as to causes, the preponderance of ganja, &c., is most marked, and it is undoubtedly true that, striking as the record of this fact has been for many years, it has fallen short of the truth. Nevertheless, as often as this story is repeated, it should be repeated also that this kind of intoxication is sometimes stated to have caused an insanity of which it is no more than a first manifestation, and which had previous existence."

5. The health of the asylums was generally good in 1882. The daily average of lunatics in hospital, calculated on the mean strength of the populations of the asylums, was 3·58 per cent. against 4·01 in the previous year, while the mean daily number of out-patients fell from 61 to 47. The following table shows the prevalence of the principal diseases in 1882:—

There was an increase in the number of cases of anæmia and debility and diarrhœa, while there was a considerable decrease of fevers and phthisis. The most noticeable point is the sudden accession of cholera, which had been entirely absent in 1881. The outbreaks occurred in the asylums at Dullunda, Dacca, and Patna. For the second year in succession the supply of water for the shower-baths in the Dullunda asylum failed, and the lunatics had to use tank water for bathing purposes. Only two cases, however, occurred in this asylum. The worst outbreak was at Dacca, where there were eight cases, of which seven proved fatal. The town and jail were attacked much more severely than the asylum, there having been 48 cases and 30 deaths in the jail alone. The filtered water-supply was extended to the Lunatic Asylum at the close of the year, and it may be hoped that this will be efficacious in warding off attacks of cholera in future. In Patna the asylum is said to have shared in an outbreak which spread all over the district. It is remarkable, however, that the jail escaped altogether. Cases of injury and accident occurred only at Dacca and Berhampore, and were few in number and of comparatively trifling importance. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Surgeon-General in thinking that the results should be judged by the record of serious injury only.

6. The number of deaths in 1882 was 87 against 84 in the previous year, notwithstanding the accession of cholera, from which the proportion of deaths to cases was very high, as it always is in limited outbreaks. The number of deaths from cholera was 12 out of 15 persons attacked. The most fatal diseases, other than cholera, were phthisis, which caused 17 deaths out of 23 cases, dysentery with 11 deaths out of 82 cases, and anæmia and debility with 9 deaths out of 40 cases. Fatal diarrhœa and fatal fevers were almost absent. The causes of the apparent decrease in the number of deaths from phthisis have been explained in previous reports, and need not be recapitulated. The decrease is almost wholly apparent only, and not real. The total number of deaths from all causes was, at Dullunda 21, at Dacca 22, at Patna 24, at Cuttack 4, and at Berhampore 16. These figures do not appear to call for any special remark.

The gross expenditure fell from Rs. 93,783 in 1881 to Rs. 81,633 in the year under review. Of the decrease, which amounted to Rs. 12,150, Rs. 2,084 occurred under ordinary, and Rs. 10,066 under extraordinary expenditure. The principal part of the reduction was under building charges, which fell from Rs. 15,388 in 1881 to Rs. 5,565 in 1882. The total cost per patient was Rs. 94 in 1882 against Rs. 107 in the previous year. The ordinary charges per patient amounted to Rs. 87 against Rs. 88, and the net cost of each person, after deducting receipts from paying patients and the net profits from manufactures, was Rs. 82 against Rs. 96.

8. Under the head of establishment, the total expenditure amounted to Rs. 39,702 against Rs. 41,725 in the previous year, the average cost per patient being Rs. 45 against Rs. 47. In the Dullunda Asylum the charge for superintendence fell from Rs. 33 to Rs. 26, the reduction being due to the arrangement by which the charge of the asylum was transferred to the First Resident Surgeon, General Hospital, from June 1882. Some reductions were also made in the minor establishment, which were partly neutralized by the higher salaries granted to the Deputy Superintendent and the Matron The fluctuations in the other asylums, which were comparatively small, were due principally to alterations in the details of establishments.

9. The question of the cost of diet received considerable attention during the year. The Government of India drew attention to the high cost of diet in the Dullunda and Dacca Asylums as compared with the charges in the neighbouring jails. On enquiry, however, it was ascertained that the excess was more apparent than real. Several items, such as hospital expenses, which were included in the figures of cost in the case of asylums, were shown separately in the case of jails, while the nominal outlay in the latter institutions was still further kept down by dint of supplying the prisoners with vegetables from the jail gardens, and with other articles of food prepared by the inmates, a resource that is only possible to a very limited extent in lunatic asylums. Some minor economies have, however, been found possible, and the diet-scale at Dacca has been revised and assimilated to that in force at Dullunda. The cost per head of diet has been slightly reduced in these two asylums, as will appear from the following table:—

	1881.	1882
	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.
Dullunda	41 13 5	37 12 11
Dacca	37 7 8	36 0 1
Patna	23 11 0	25 4 3
Cuttack	18 15 10	19 12 6
Berhampore	28 9 10	30 15 0

The conditions of a jail and a lunatic asylum are so different, that a comparison between their diet-scales and cost is apt to be misleading. The comparison should rather be with hospitals than with jails; but, as the Surgeon-General points out, "it will not be very close with either, for sick men do not labour, and lunatics are not criminals."

10. The charge for clothing was Rs. 2,467 against Rs. 2,664, but Rs. 1,806 of the former sum represents the cost price of articles manufactured in the asylums. The amount realized from paying patients fell from Rs. 1,977 in 1881 to Rs. 1,258 in the year under review. The fluctuation is small. The amount expended on raw materials for manufacture was Rs. 27,038 against Rs. 24,317 in the previous year. Including book debits for work done by other departments, and the value of stores in stock at the beginning of the year, the total debit was Rs 86,989. Manufactured goods to the value of Rs. 11 257 were consumed in the asylums, a sum of Rs. 20,722 was paid into the treasury, and the estimated value of the stores in stock when the year closed was Rs. 61,404. The excess of credit over debit therefore amounted to Rs. 5,913 against Rs. 6,947 in 1881. The Surgeon-General, however, points out that articles consumed in the asylums are charged at cost price, profit being allowed on outside sales only. Gross profits are therefore no measure of success.

11. The principal material improvements introduced during the year consisted of the new hospital ward at Dullunda, which was opened in the course of the year, the construction of a cooking stove, and the supply of filtered water at Dacca, and the completion of the new filter at Berhampore. Filtration of water also came to be practised at Patna during the year under review.

12. The number of patients in the Bhowanipore European Asylum at the beginning of the year was 20, viz. 7 males and 13 females. During the year, 17 persons were admitted, of whom 3 were re-admitted after discharge. The total number of persons under treatment was therefore 40. Of the new admissions 10 were Europeans, natives of Great Britain, one a Russian, and 6 Eurasians. Four lunatics were discharged cured, four were deported to Europe under the Merchant Shipping Act, three were transferred to the care of friends, and two died. Twenty-seven persons remained in the asylum at the close of the year. The Surgeon General reports that, as in former years, the female ward was overcrowded, and admission had to be refused to several applicants. The state of the law relating to admissions to the Bhowanipore Asylum, and the powers of Government for the deportation to Europe of lunatics of European birth, have received the attention of Government, and the Surgeon-General has been requested to submit a full report on the whole question, with a view to removing the inconvenience that is now felt.

13. There were only two deaths in the asylum in 1882, against seven in the previous year. One man was admitted in a state of furious phrenzy, and was with difficulty kept alive for 46 days, after which period he died from exhaustion. The other was the case of a man who was sent from Assam, suffering from fever, and who ultimately died of phthisis. The total expenditure amounted to Rs. 21,136 against Rs. 22,160 in 1881. There was an increase in the average cost of diets which is explained by the large number of patients who were admitted into the asylum in a weak and emaciated condition, and had to be kept up by extra quantities of food. The total amount contributed by the friends of paying patients was Rs 14,786 against Rs. 15,280 in 1881, and the average net cost of each lunatic to the State was Rs. 276.

14. The management of the asylums throughout the province during the year was excellent, and reflects credit on the Superintendents and on the head of the department. The members of the subordinate staff are all well spoken of by their immediate superiors. Mr. and Mrs. DeVere, the Deputy Seperintendent and Matron of the Bhowanipore Asylum, maintained the high reputation for efficiency they had won in former years.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution, together with a copy of the Report, be submitted to the Government of India, in the Home Department, for information.

Ordered also that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Surgeon-General, Bengal, for information.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE OPIUM DEPARTMENT FOR 1881-82.

REVENUE DEPT.—MIS. REVENUE.

Darjeeling, the 18th April 1883.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

A letter No. 109B, dated the 1st February 1883, from the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, submitting the reports of the Opium Agents of Behar and Benares for the year 1881-82.

The period with which the reports deal has been one of considerable importance owing in the first place to the experiment which was made during it of using opium purchased in Central India for excise purposes, with a view to set free a larger proportion than usual of the Bengal drug for the manufacture of provision opium, and secondly, to the heavy loss which was caused by the damage which a considerable portion of the Benares opium of the year 1880-81 was found to have undergone. The latter of these circumstances has formed the subject of a separate enquiry, which has not yet closed and will therefore not be discussed in the present Resolution. The former will be considered in its proper place.

2. The quantity of land for which cultivators engaged, of land actually cultivated, and the produce of each agency, are shown in the following table:—

Season.	Area engaged for.	Land sown for cultivation.	Net cultivation	Produce at 70° consistence.

1881-82	450,474	396,478	380,050	51,449 7 2
Increase	.....	.....	.....	5,943 7 4½
Decrease	31,408	33,635	33,006	.....

Compared with the statistics noticed in last year's report, those now under review show an improvement in the Behar Agency, both in the quantity of land for which engagements were made, and of that actually cultivated. The increase in the area under cultivation took place chiefly in the agencies north of the Ganges, in which, it may be observed, irrigation is much less freely resorted to than in the agencies south of the river. South of the river the entire cultivation, amounting to 219,527 bighas, was irrigated; while on the north only 72,626 bighas, all in the Chupra district, or about one-third of the lands under poppy, were watered from wells. It would be interesting to learn whether the facilities for growing special crops, such as sugarcane, which the Sone canals afford, militate against the popularity of opium cultivation in the agencies south of the Ganges. In the Benares Agency the increase from Rs. 4-8 to Rs. 5 in the price paid by the Government for crude opium has failed to prevent a falling off in the cultivation. The Agent is, however, hopeful that the increase will henceforward bear fruit in increasing the popularity of the cultivation. This is a point on which the experience of the current year will throw light. Meanwhile it is satisfactory to find that the influence of a very favourable season was sufficient to cause an increase of 3,997 maunds in the gross produce of the agency, the average yield per bigha being 5 seers 3¼ chittacks against 4 seers 3¼ chittacks in the previous year.

3. In the Behar Agency the year's manufacture consisted of 577 maunds of Nepal opium, 2,023 maunds of Benares opium at 75° consistence, and 48,863 maunds produced in the agency itself. Out of this total of 51,463 maunds, there were manufactured 26,022 chests of provision opium at 75°, 76°, and 77° consistence, against 24,200 chests at 74° and 75° consistence in the previous year, while for excise purposes 3,538 maunds and for medical purposes 10 maunds were reserved. The balance which remained over will, for the greater part, be employed for lewah. In the Benares Agency, 28,017 chests of provision opium, and 531 of excise opium, were manufactured. The high consistence of the drug delivered by the cultivators resulted in the manufacture at both agencies of opium at a much higher consistence than usual.

4. The weather was more favourable to the cultivation of the poppy in the North-Western Provinces than in Behar, and it is to this cause, as well as to the prevalence of fever in the latter agency, depressing the energies of the cultivators, that the difference in the proportionate outturn is to be attributed. In the districts of Behar the promise of a good season, given by the plentiful rainfall of August and September, led to large engagements on the part of the cultivators, but the epidemic of fever which followed interfered seriously with the cultivation. The weather also, though favourable for the greater part of the year, changed in March when strong winds injured the plants just at the time of collecting the drug. The sowings in the Benares Agency were late, owing to the want of rain and the prevalence of fever, but the satisfactory weather later on favoured the healthy growth of the plants, and thus contributed to cause an unusually good outturn in proportion to the extent of cultivation.

5. Of the total amount of opium sent to the Patna Factory by the Sub-Deputy Opium Agents, 81 maunds were found to be more or less impure, while 4 maunds 7 seers were so bad as to call for confiscation. In the previous season the confiscations amounted to 3 maunds 10 seers only. In the Benares Agency 100 maunds of adulterated opium were sent in as good by the Sub Deputy Agents, against 416 maunds in the previous year; but it was necessary to confiscate only 1¾ maunds. These results, as observed by the Board, are satisfactory, and point both to vigilence on the part of the local officers and to a growing sense on the part of the cultivators of the futility of adulterating their produce.

6. The recovery of advances in the Behar Agency continues very creditable. The small balances which were outstanding last year for 1878-79, and for 1880-81, have been collected, and that for 1879-80 (amounting only to Rs. 42) has been remitted. The balance at the close of the year under review was Rs. 4,587, of which over one-fourth had been collected by the end of October, and the remainder was in course of realization. In the Benares Agency the results are less satisfactory, the balance at the close of 1881-82 amounting to Rs. 10,842. Large remissions were also made during the year of the outstanding balances of previous years, the aggregate amount struck off as incapable of realization being Rs 30,864.

7. The number of cases instituted throughout Bengal for breach of the opium laws was the same as in the previous year, viz. 402, of which about one-half occurred in the Patna, Bhagulpur, and Chota Nagpur Divisions. Convictions were obtained in 340 cases, and special reports were made regarding 167 of the prisoners with a view to departmental enquiry. Fifteen of the prisoners were inhabitants either of native territory, or of districts which do not produce opium; 14 cases could not be investigated; 67 prisoners were either opium cultivators themselves, or were closely connected with cultivators, and 71 had no connection with cultivators or cultivation. The fact that half of the prisoners whose cases it was possible to investigate were thus found to be merely agents for the disposal of illicit opium affords confirmation of the remarks of the Agent that it is to vigilance in the non-producing districts, and especially in the larger towns, that the Government must mainly look for checks on illicit sale. The number of cases instituted under Act XIII of 1859 showed a large increase, as it was found necessary to check, by the punishment of some of the worst offenders, growing practice of breaking the contract to cultivate, after receiving advances. In the Benares Agency 522 persons were convicted in 615 cases for offences against the Opium Act, against 602 persons in 709 cases in the previous year. The amounts realized as fines in the Behar and Benares Agencies respectively were Rs. 7,860 and Rs. 8,424. Rs. 10,570 were disbursed to informers in the former and Rs. 8,079 in the latter agency.

8. The Lieutenant-Governor has read with interest the remarks of the Board and of the Behar Agent regarding the extension of cultivation in that agency. As already noticed, the increase in the area for which engagements were taken amounted to 12,525 bighas and that in the actual cultivation to 16,565 bighas. Of the lands under cultivation in the previous year, 7,651 bighas were thrown out of cultivation, of which 2,656 bighas are expressly stated to have been devoted to other crops, 1,716 bighas are accounted for by the unproductive character of the land, or the death or disappearance of the cultivators, and 3,169 bighas are mentioned as having been thrown out of cultivation from other causes. The exact nature of these and other causes is not clear, but it is probable that the competition of other crops would account for a considerable portion of this area. The improvement of communications throughout Behar, which now enables the more bulky farm produce, such as sugarcane and potatoes, to be carried to distant markets has rendered these crops an important rival to the poppy, which the Agent believes is being driven to inferior lands where it is cultivated mainly for the sake of the advance. The practice of sowing other crops as soon as the poppy is cut, and in some cases of following these by a rain crop, has, it is alleged, impoverished the soil, and so had a bad effect on the poppy. Where there are no facilities for well irrigation, it is possible that this system of double cropping may have the effect attributed to it; but the Lieutenant-Governor is disposed to think that, as well irrigation has admittedly a specially fertilizing effect, the provision of further facilities for such irrigation north of the Ganges might go some way to counteract the impoverishment of the soil which the cultivation of several crops within the year may produce. In the Aliganj Sub-Agency one of the leading planters of the district has been for some time past trying the experiment of taking an indigo crop off opium land before the poppy is sown. Mr. Donald Reid, the planter in question, is of opinion that the yield of poppy is improved by this practice, but the Board are not at present disposed to concur in this view. The question is one of much interest from the point of view alike of Government revenue and of the indigo industry, and the Lieutenant-Governor desires that it may be noticed in future reports. Mr. Rivers Thompson has read the account which Mr. Reid has furnished of his experiments; and although the results cannot be said to be conclusive, some very important considerations are suggested by them. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that Mr. Reid may see his way to continue such interesting experiments.

The causes of the decrease of cultivation in the Benares Agency are discussed at less length in the report; but they are apparently not far to seek, and it is doubtful whether further efforts to extend cultivation in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh will be attended with commensurate success.

9. In consequence, it is believed, of the concessions made to persons bringing in opium from Nepal, which were first made known to the cultivators in time for the deliveries of the year under review, the amount of Nepal opium delivered at the agency rose from 233 maunds in 1880-81 to 577 maunds in the year under review. The result is very satisfactory, and it may fairly be hoped that the deliveries from this source will increase in future as the concessions become more generally known. With regard to the cases of imposition mentioned by the Agent, the Lieutenant-Governor is disposed to agree with Mr. Mangles and the Board that it is better that the Government should submit to some loss in the payment of travelling allowances, owing to parcels of opium being improperly split up, than that action should be taken which might check the progress which this comparatively new source of opium supply is now making. The Lieutenant-Governor will, however, be glad to receive the further report which the Board propose to submit on the subject.

10. The deliveries of pasewa amounted to 152 maunds in the Behar Agency, and to 20 maunds in the Benares Agency, against 178 maunds and 44 maunds respectively in the previous year. In both cases the falling off is attributed, probably correctly, to the dryness of the year. On the recommendation of the Board, the Lieutenant-Governor recently suggested to the Government of India that the system of paying commission to lambardars and khatadars for deliveries of pasewa should be discontinued, and that all deliveries should be paid for at the rate of Rs. 3-8 a seer. These proposals have been sanctioned, and the result will be noticed in the next report on the working of the Department.

11. The question of rendering the cultivation of the poppy more popular by the modification of the conditions regarding advances and repayments formed the subject of a report from the Board, which was submitted early in the present financial year. The Lieutenant-Governor agreed in the conclusions of the Board that it was inexpedient to make any changes in respect of the payments, but that it might be possible, by increasing the number of places at which payments and weighments should be made, to save the cultivators from the necessity for taking several long journeys during the year to the head-quarters of their respective sub-agencies. With this view sanction was given to the erection, as an experimental measure, of three new depôts in the Patna Sub-Agency, and it is in contemplation to erect similar depôts elsewhere in the Behar Agency and in the Benares Agency. No time should be lost in the submission of the further report promised regarding the localities for these agencies. At the same time due attention should be given to the consideration whether the advantages to the people are more than commensurate with the difficulties which the scheme will impose on limited establishments by having to superintend weighments at distant places within narrow limits of time.

12. The advances given to cultivators for the construction of wells formed the subject of a separate report to the Government of India, which was submitted during the year under review. Considerable attention was also paid to the question which has now been for some time under discussion, of the relative superiority of well-water over canal-water for the cultivation of the poppy. During the year, further evidence, which came before the Board, induced them to modify the opinion previously expressed that the preference of the ryots for well-water was in the main the result of prejudice. Enquiries made in the Tirhta Sub-Agency, and certain experimental sowings in the Shahabad Sub-Agency, have now convinced the Board that the presence of certain mineral ingredients in solution in the well-water does render it more suitable for the poppy than the purer water brought by the canals. It was found, however, that the rules of the Irrigation Department were such as virtually to debar the ryots in some localities from the use of other than canal-water. At the instance of the Board of Revenue, concessions have now been made in favour of the ryots, by which they have been enabled to erect small aqueducts across the distributaries of canal-water at the expense of the Opium Department, subject only to such conditions as are necessary to prevent a misuse of the privilege. The next report on the administration of the department should state the number of applications made by cultivators for the construction of aqueducts.

13. An experiment, of which the results are likely to be of great importance to the future of the opium revenue, was made during the year on the recommendation of the Benares Agent. In order to set free a larger quantity of the opium produced in Bengal for the manufacture of opium for export, the Government of India sanctioned the purchase in Central India of some 2,000 maunds of opium for manufacture into excise opium for consumption in India. Up to the time of the submission of the report 1,118 maunds of Central Indian opium had been manufactured, and the remainder was in course of manufacture. Reports which have recently been received tend to show that the habit of the Malwa cultivators of mixing oil with the drug has to some extent rendered the Central Indian opium unsuited for excise purposes, but it is hoped that it may, by improved methods of manufacture, in time be found possible to extract the oil. In the outlying provinces of India, also, it is very possible that the peculiar flavour imparted by the oil may be less disliked than in the North-Western Provinces. A continuance of the experiment has been sanctioned during the current year.

14. Great difficulty was, as noticed last year, experienced by the Benares Agent in consequence of the failure of the contractors to supply chests for packing the opium of the season 1880-81, and there is no doubt that this failure was the primary cause of the loss (referred to in the first paragraph of this resolution) arising from the damaged condition in which much of the opium of that year was discovered when the chests were opened. It has now been arranged that all chests required in excess of those which can be manufactured at the factories shall be purchased in the open market by the Behar Agent; but as it is not considered that reliance can be safely placed on the latter source of supply for more than 25,000 chests a year, it is intended to strengthen the saw-mill at the Patna Factory sufficiently to enable it to turn out 35,000 chests annually.

15. Experiments were under trial during the year as to the best method of storing provision opium, and these will be continued for the present. The tendency of the observations hitherto made has been to show that tin-lined chests offer the most effectual protection against damp and injury.

16. It has been a source of satisfaction to the Lieutenant-Governor that a scheme which was submitted last year for the sanction of the Secretary of State and of the Government of India, for the improvement of the position and prospects of officers of the Opium Department has been approved. It will be brought into force with as little delay as possible.

17. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are due to the Board of Revenue for the efficient control which they have exercised over the administration of the Department; to Mr. Mangles, the Behar Agent, and Dr. Sheppard, the Principal Assistant at the Patna Factory, the Lieutenant-Governor's best thanks are also due for much excellent work performed during the year.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

A. P. MACDONNELL,
Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE HEALTH OFFICER OF THE PORT OF CALCUTTA FOR 1882.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MARINE.

Calcutta, the 24th April 1883.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

A letter No. 664RA, dated the 14th February 1883, from the Officiating Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal, forwarding the report of the Health Officer of the Port of Calcutta for the year 1882.

DR. LYNCH, by whom the report is submitted, was Health Officer of the Port throughout the year. Advantage was taken of the retirement of the European Sanitary Inspector, who had been appointed to assist the Health Officer, to employ, on a smaller salary, a Native Inspector, and to supply him, from the savings thus effected, with a boat and establishment to enable him to visit the boats in Port. The change has not been in force sufficiently long to enable any opinion to be formed as to its results, but it is hoped that the appointment of an officer well acquainted with the vernacular language of the boatmen in the Port, and understanding their habits, may lead to their availing themselves, when ill, of the medical aid and treatment afforded by the hospitals.

2. A noticeable increase has again taken place in the number both of in-coming and out-going vessels inspected by the Health Officer, which was 1,367 in 1882 against 1,112 in the previous year. The average number of European seamen in the Port was 1,792 against 1,950 in the previous year. The death-rate (51·8 per mille) was higher than usual, being enhanced by large mortality from cholera, which accounted for 41 out of 94 deaths. Bowel-complaints and fever were also more fatal than in the previous year. As was the case last year, the mortality from cholera in the Port was heaviest when the disease was most rife in the town. Five deaths from sunstroke occurred during the year, but there is no reason to believe that any of them were due to neglect of proper precautions by the masters of vessels. With a view to check the unnecessary exposure of seamen to the heavy dews and fogs on the river, the Port Commissioners have recently resolved to issue a notice to the masters of all vessels visiting the Port to inform them of the advantage which their crews will receive from awnings on deck. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that the advice thus given will be generally followed, and he would be glad to see the matter noticed in the report of the Port Commissioners. Among the native floating population also the mortality from cholera was heavy, and coincided remarkably with that of the town. In other respects the year was normal, and the Port was quite free from small-pox during the whole period under review.

3. As mentioned in the Lieutenant-Governor's Resolution of last year, steps were taken shortly before the end of the year to supply the Egyptian and Turkish Governments with the fullest information regarding the sanitary condition of the Indian ports, in the hope that a knowledge of the facts would induce those Governments to remove the restrictions formerly imposed by them upon traffic. This hope was realized, and in April last quarantine in Egypt was removed, and has not been since reimposed. Weekly death returns of the Port are now sent regularly to Egypt and Turkey; and as the mortality from cholera, though somewhat heavier than in previous years, has not led to the reimposition of quarantine, it may be hoped that a change is taking place in the policy of both Governments in this respect. In July, in consequence of representations from the Turkish Sanitary Board, and with a view to keep communication with Egypt unimpeded, the Government of India consented to impose quarantine on ships from Batavia and Sumatra, where cholera was said to be rife. Two ships only arrived from Batavia, so that the amount of inconvenience caused was slight.

4. The number of pilgrims remained small, and one ship only returned with Bengali-Mussalmans from Jeddah. Small-pox broke out on board during the voyage, but the medical officer attached to the vessel rendered the necessary assistance.

5. So far as particulars are known, the health of Indian sailors at sea was good, the reported mortality amounting to only 21 out of 4,853 lascars known to be afloat, or about 4·3 per mille. Complaints of ill-treatment were made by lascars in nine cases. The results of the enquiries should have been reported. Scurvy was found present in two ships carrying native crews. The total number of cases, however, was only three.

6. At the close of 1881-82, and at the commencement of the past year, the insanitary state of the river bank at the kerosine oil depôt below Matea-brooj Ghat was brought to notice, but the premises being private, and the Municipality unable to arrest without warrant persons creating nuisances on the bank, it was found impossible to effect any improvement until a police guard was stationed at the spot. This measure has proved effective. The Lieutenant-Governor observes with satisfaction that only one complaint was made regarding the Howrah foreshore. On the Calcutta side two additional latrines have been erected by the Port Commissioners above the Hooghly Bridge, but more accommodation is reported to be urgently required at the entrance of Tolly's Nullah, and this should be provided without delay.

7. There were apparently no complaints during the year regarding the quality of the filtered water supplied to the European shipping by the Municipality. The tanks in the water-boats having now been fitted with proper covers, the water should always reach the ships in the same condition as it is received from the hydrants.

8. The report notices a defect in the flushing inlets of the main sewers of the town, which might occasionally cause serious pollution to the water in the river. As constructed at present, the inlets do not at all seasons effectually prevent the outward flow of sewage, and complaints were made in the past year of the escape of foul water into the stream. The matter is of the utmost importance to the health of the Port, and the Municipal Commissioners will be requested to take steps to obviate the recurrence of any further nuisance from this source.

9. The number of European seamen admitted into hospital was not excessive, in comparison with the total number of the crews in the Port during the year, but the mortality exceeded the rate in the previous two years, owing to the greater prevalence of cholera and bowel-complaints. The principal diseases from which the seamen suffered, and the mortality from each in the past four years, are shown in the following statement:—

Diseases.	1882.		1881.		1880.		1879.		1878.

Total	2,247	96	1,790	65	2,006	49	2,126	61	3,293	80

The average daily population of the port during this period having been 1,000 for 1879, 1,400 for 1880, 1,350 for 1881, and 1,792 for 1882, the death-rate per thousand was 61 in 1879, 35 in 1880, 48 in 1881, and 51·8 in the past year.

10. The increase in cholera cases last year is in the main attributable to an increase of the disease in the town, but it is to be feared that in many instances the attacks were brought on by the recklessness of the men themselves. In eighteen cases it was ascertained that the disease was preceded by drunkenness and exposure to rain and cold. The mortality from enteric or typhoid fever, amounting to 3·3 per thousand, was very high. The comparatively large number of cases of this disease, which is said to be very rare amongst the resident population of Calcutta, appears to be mainly due to the gross disregard of their own health shown by seamen in frequenting unhealthy localities and consuming the unwholesome drinks offered for sale in the native bazars. It appears that the disease is equally fatal among European soldiers, whose habits are similar in this respect. Efforts have been, and are still, made to keep seamen away from the native bazars, and much good has been thus done by the persons who have interested themselves in this philanthropic work; but the proverbial carelessness of the sailor precludes the hope that complete success will ever be attained in this matter. An increase is again observed in cases of scurvy, and it is stated in the report that a similar increase has been noticed at home. The matter has attracted the attention of the Board of Trade, and it may be hoped that instructions will soon be issued for such a change in the diet of sailors at sea as to greatly reduce, if not entirely remove, the risk of this disease.

11. The total mortality afloat and in hospital among the native population of the Port, numbered at 25,630 in the last census, gave a rate of 7·2 per thousand, as compared with 5·5 in 1881. With the exception, however, of cholera, to which the higher mortality was due, the past year was not an unhealthy one for this class of the floating population. There were no deaths from typhoid fever or small-pox amongst them, and it is worthy of note, as Dr. Lynch remarks, that while they, who drank the foul water of the Hooghly, had a death-rate of 4·4 per thousand from cholera, the mortality from that disease among the residents of the town, who drink the filtered water supplied by the Municipality, was 5·2 per thousand.

12. The duties of his office were efficiently discharged by Dr. Lynch during the year.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

A. P. MacDONNELL,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

REORGANIZATION OF THE OPIUM DEPARTMENT.

APPOINTMENT DEPARTMENT.

Darjeeling, the 24th April 1883.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

A memorandum from the Revenue Department of this Government, No. 517T—R, dated the 2nd October 1882, communicating the sanction of the Secretary of State to the scheme submitted by that Department for the improvement of the position and prospects of the officers of the Opium Department.

Read also—

Endorsement from the Revenue Department, No. 2373—186A, dated the 4th November 1882, communicating the sanction of the Government of India, in the Department of Finance and Commerce, to the proposal to give effect from the 1st November 1882 to the above scheme.

Read also—

A letter from the Board of Revenue, No. 60B, dated the 17th January 1883, submitting the proposals of the Board for giving effect to the changes sanctioned.

The question of improving the position and prospects of the officers employed in the Opium Department has engaged the attention of this Government for some time past. With this object certain proposals were submitted in the early part of last year to the Government of India, which have, with some slight modifications, been sanctioned by the Secretary of State.

The following table shews the existing grades and those now sanctioned, with the number of appointments in each grade:—

PRESENT ESTABLISHMENT.				ESTABLISHMENT NOW SANCTIONED.
Grade.	Number of appointments.	Pay.	REMARKS.	Grade.	Number of appointments.	Pay.	REMARKS.

2. Excluding the new probationary grade, the numerical strength of the Department has not been altered, but the several grades and the number of officers in each grade have been so arranged as to secure as far as possible to the officers in the Department an equable flow of promotion from the lower to the higher grades.

3. The new organization involves a total annual increased expenditure of Rs. 54,300, including the pay of six probationers in the Department, or Rs. 4,525 a month.

5. The new grade of probationers is introduced into the Department with the view of obviating the necessity of throwing out of employment officiating assistants when the acting vacancies in the Department are reduced in number in consequence of the return of senior officers from leave or deputation. This was not only a hardship on the assistants themselves, but in many instances led to Government losing the services of officers who, on being so thrown out of employ, succeeded in obtaining permanent appointments elsewhere, and thus the experience gained by them in their officiating capacity was not again utilized in the Department. The creation of this new grade will, it is hoped, render unnecessary in future the appointment of officiating officers. It is of course possible that a permanent staff of six probationers may prove insufficient, but until experience has shown that this is so, the Lieutenant-Governor does not propose to increase the number. It may, however, be explained that it is not intended necessarily to limit the number of officers of the Opium Department on leave to the number of probationers. Each application for leave will be treated on its merits, and a larger percentage of officers will be allowed to be absent if the Board of Revenue is satisfied that they can be spared without detriment to the work of the Department.

6. In the Government order No. 57E, dated the 26th January 1875, it was prescribed that the position of officers in the present third or last grade of Assistant Sub-Deputy Opium Agents should be arranged according to the dates of passing their examinations, and that on entering the second grade, they should be re-arranged according to seniority. In pursuance of this order, the 14 assistants in the new first and second grades will rank according to seniority, and the remaining 27 in the new third and fourth grades, according to the dates of passing their examinations. This rule will, however, affect only those officers who have hitherto come under the order of the 26th January 1875, viz. from Mr. W. T. Ryves downwards. But any probationer who has passed in all subjects will, on the occurrence of a vacancy, be promoted to the fourth grade of assistants in supersession of those who have passed in the least number of subjects.

7. The Lieutenant-Governor directs that the scheme as sanctioned by the Secretary of State be introduced from the 1st November 1882.

APPOINTMENT OF MINISTERIAL OFFICERS IN THE PATNA DIVISION.

No. 254G, dated Bankipore, the 6th April 1883.

From—F. M. HALLIDAY, Esq., Commissioner of the Patna Division,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Appointment Department.

WITH reference to Government letter No. 5646A of the 28th December 1880, I have the honour to submit a statement shewing the number of vacancies, both acting and permanent, that occurred during the past year in the several offices in this division.

2. The total number of vacancies which occurred during the year in the several offices and departments in this division was 489, and they were thus distributed—

In the Revenue and Magistrates' offices	140
In the Road Cess and Municipal offices	76
In the Police Department	264
Registration Department	7
Jail Department	2
Total ..	489

The above appointments were filled up in the several offices and departments as follows :—

	By Beharees.	By Bengalees.
In the Revenue and Magistrates' offices	121	19
In the Road Cess and Municipal offices	68	8
In the Police Department	261	3
Registration Department	7	..
Jail Department	..	2
Total ..	457	32

It will thus appear that 93·4 per cent of the vacancies were filled up by the natives of Behar, while 6·5 of the appointments were given to Bengalees. Of the 32 appointments filled up by Bengalees, 14 were cases of promotion, the persons appointed being already in the office, and three appointments were given to Bengalees domiciled in Behar.

3. In submitting the statement of vacancies filled up in the Behar Jails, the Inspector-General of Jails remarked as follows :—"I have not up to date received the names of any eligible Beharee candidates for employment in jails as apprentices." Both the posts which fell vacant during the year under review were therefore given to Bengalees.

METEOROLOGICAL OFFICE, BENGAL,
The 20th April 1883.

JOHN ELIOT,
Meteorological Reporter to the Government of Bengal.

SUMMARY.

THE past week, like the preceding fortnight, has been characterized by high temperature and unusual dryness of the air over nearly the whole of Northern India, but more especially in Behar and the North-Western Provinces. One effect of the marked contrast between the weather conditions over Northern India and the head of the Bay has been the strengthening of the southerly current across the coast of Bengal and Orissa. Unusually strong south-westerly winds have hence prevailed during the week bringing up moderate supplies of moisture. Light showers have consequently fallen in Eastern Bengal and at the foot of the Darjeeling Hills, in the Cooch Behar and Julpaigori districts The atmospheric conditions in Bengal also became unsettled during the week, which thus terminated with the probability of more or less general rain over the greater part of Bengal. Rain has since fallen on the 21st, 22nd, and 23rd over nearly the whole of South-west Bengal and North Bengal and the greater part of East Bengal.

The following shews the average and normal average rainfall of the various meteorological divisions of the province for the present month up to the 20th :—

	Normal average rainfall, 14th to 20th April.	Average rainfall 14th to 20th April 1883.	Normal rainfall, 1st to 20th April.	Average rainfall, 1st to 20th April 1883.	Percentage of actual to normal rainfall of period 1st to 20th April 1883.
Orissa	0·44	Nil	1·10	0 24	22
South-west Bengal	0·86	0·06	1·23	0·19	15
East Bengal	0 84	0·27	2·20	0·43	20
North Bengal	0·37	0·32	1·25	0·69	55
North Behar	0·11	Nil	0·43	Nil	—
South Behar	0·4	Nil	0·22	Nil	—
Chutia Nagpore	0·20	0·06	0·41	0·06	15

The rainfall of the week occurred as occasional local showers in Eastern Bengal, and as a series of storms in Rungpore, Julpaigori, and Cooch Behar on the 14th and 15th.

The table shews that the rainfall of the present month has been very deficient everywhere in Bengal. None has fallen in Behar. In Orissa and South-west Bengal and East Bengal barely 20 per cent. of the normal amount had fallen between the 1st and 20th, whilst in Northern Bengal 55 per cent. had fallen in the same period.

Results of the Meteorological Observations taken at the Alipore Observatory from 15th to 21st April 1883.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 81, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

John Eliot,
For Meteorological Reporter to the Govt. of India.

Report on Traffic of the East Indian Railway during four weeks ending 24th February 1883.

Decrease in coaching receipts, 10 per cent.
Ditto in goods ditto 9 ,

Coaching.

The coaching receipts were high last year owing to the return to their homes of the Magh Mela passengers during February

Goods.

The total decrease in the goods traffic during the month is over 4½ lakhs, chiefly in rice, jaggree, and seeds, but against this there is an increase in downwards coals, wheat, opium, and piece goods, bringing the loss down to about 2½ lakhs of rupees.

The chief staples which have fluctuated during the period are :—

Increases.

Coal, downwards.
Wheat.
Piece-goods.
Hides.
Opium.

Decreases.

Coal, upwards.
Cotton.
Rice.
Other grain.
Iron.
Jaggree.
Salt.
Seeds.

Remarks.

Coal, downwards ... ... Mds 2,22,510 Rs. 33,510
Active demands in Calcutta and its neighbourhood for steam coal as well as coal for brick-burning.

Wheat .. .. Mds. 15,840 Rs. 24,570
We have benefitted by the long lead traffic vid Gazeeubad and other North West stations to Howrah.

Hides and Horns .. .. Mds 25,800 Rs 12,410
The traffic in these commodities depends entirely on the foreign demand, and a large business is reported during February in Calcutta

Opium ... ... Mds. 64,520 Rs. 64,170
Very little of this article was carried to Calcutta in February 1882, hence the increase this year.

Piece goods .. .. . . Mds. 29,460 Rs. 13,860
This increase is principally at Howrah, where at the end of the month we had a brisk traffic to stations in Bengal and Behar for the most part

Decreases.

Coal, upwards ... ... Mds. 1,47,720 Rs. 39,480
This decrease is general, with the exception of Asansole, and may be attributed to less demands from foreign railways.

Cotton ... ... Mds. 17,630 Rs. 30,440
Beyond a few consignments shipped for England and China, nothing has been done in cotton during the month, and the market is reported dull.

Rice ... ... Mds 3,09,870 Rs 1,20,860
Last year's traffic was higher than usual owing to scarcity of wagons during January forcing the traffic into February and to the demand for food-grain in the North-West.

Other grain ... ... Mds. 1,54,200 Rs. 38,430
The demand this year has been normal, while special enquiry for grain was going on up-country last year.

Iron ... ... Mds. 22,590 Rs. 23,350
This falling off is in iron carried at both 1st and 2nd class rates.

Jaggree ... ... Mds. 2,26,150 Rs 82,690
The large demand last year, owing to the failure of the crops up-country, has this year fallen to the usual dimensions.

Salt ... ... Mds. 17,390 Rs 17,520
This decrease is in salt vid Agra, and may be set down as a fluctuation only.

Seeds ... . Mds. 1,24,040 Rs. 72 440
The oil-seed market is reported as dull with drooping prices at the end of the month, and exports compare very unfavourable with those of last year and the year previous

The train mileage for the period has been, excluding maintenance and locomotive coal train mileage—

NOTIFICATION.

The 23rd April 1883.—It is hereby notified, for the information of merchants and officers interested in the trade between False Point and other ports, that a telephone line has been laid and is in working order between False Point Light-house and Hookeytollah, the latter point being in telegraphic communication with Calcutta, and that a signaller has been appointed at the light-house to communicate with ships in the offing.

Ships can be signalled from the light-house, in ordinary weather, at a distance of five miles; in very clear weather, six miles; and in hazy weather, not more than three or four miles.

Owing to the sands lying off the Mahanuddy, ships cannot at any season approach False Point Light safely within four miles, or in the monsoon five miles.

The transmission of telephonic messages between False Point and Hookeytollah will be charged at the ordinary rate for inland telegraphic messages, besides Re. 1 for each message for the use of flags.

DISTRICT ROAD FUND.

NOTIFICATION No. 163.

The 30th April 1883.

THE following annual accounts and abstracts of the reports of the Road Cess Committees of the districts of Monghyr, Bhagulpore, Purneah, Maldah, and Southal Pergunnahs for the cess year 1881-82, together with the remarks thereon of the Commissioner of the Bhagulpore Division, are published for general information.

G F. E. S NEILL, Major, M.S.C.,

Under-Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, P. W. Dept.

Abstract of a report by the Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Monghyr, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1881-82.

BUSINESS was transacted in every meeting of the Road Cess Committee held during the year, sufficient members having always been present to form a quorum. The attendance of the mofussil members has always been irregular, as the majority of them reside a long distance from the head-quarters, but there was an improvement in the attendance of the members of the Branch Committees. The native gentlemen took an increased interest in their work, while the indigo-planters continued to evince the same interest which they have always done.

The outlay during the year, which much exceeded that of any previous year, was incurred in carrying out new schemes, and in keeping the existing roads in proper repairs. The new works carried out chiefly consisted of heavy bridging, the completion of which has rendered some of the most important roads of the district passable for men and vehicles all the year round.

Liberal grants were made to the Branch Committees, and much improvement has been effected to the village roads under their charge.

Tree-planting is being carried out by contract, and on the payment by result system. This system has proved a success. A length of about 45 miles of the Tirhoot road having been supplied with fruit-trees during the year, and also about nine miles of the Sultangunge road. By the gradual extension of this system all over the district, the Committee in a few years hope to have all their roads supplied with trees.

The different establishments under the Road Committee have generally worked satisfactorily.

Chairman, District Road Committee.

G. THOMAS,
Vice-Chairman, District Road Committee.

GENERAL C. MURRAY,

GUNGA PERSHAD,
} Members of the Committee.

Abstract of a report by the Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Bhagulpore, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1881-82.

THE Road Cess Act has worked well in the district. The revaluation will, it is estimated, place in the hands of the Committee an annual increase of income of about Rs. 15,000.

The members of the District and Branch Committees took a good deal of interest in the subjects discussed at the meetings, and the latter have worked remarkably well. Nearly the whole of the allotments made to the several Branch Committees during the year have been spent by them.

Most of the original works undertaken by the Committee have been completed during the year, and carried out satisfactorily. The existing roads are in first-rate order, and are all driveable during the cold weather, while many are driveable even in the rainy season, notably the road from Bhagulpore to Bowsee, the road from Banka to Kattooreah, and many of the roads in the Soopool sub-division.

Arboriculture has been well attended to during the year. The District Engineer has now got under his charge 7,400 trees on 51 miles of roads. The Branch Committees have also attended to the matter, and there is a general improvement throughout the district under this head.

The different establishments under the Road Committee have on the whole worked satisfactorily.

Abstract of a report by the Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Purneah, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1881-82.

THE Cess Act worked smoothly in this district, and the advantages conferred on the people are generally appreciated. The working of the District Committee was satisfactory during the year. There was one special meeting and five ordinary meetings of the Committee, and the average attendance of the members was fair. Most of the members of the Branch Committees interested themselves in road cess matters and several gave valuable assistance in carrying out repairs, especially to village roads, which received their particular attention.

Some 2,124 trees were planted out during the cess year 1881-82, and the existing fences were kept in repair. Owing to the damage done by cattle, much trouble and expense were incurred in maintaining young plants on some of the roads. Nine nursery gardens are kept up in the district.

All the district roads save one were repaired during the year.

The different establishments under the Road Committee have worked satisfactorily.

PURNEAH,

The 20th November 1882.

J. PRATT,

Vice-Chairman, District Road Committee.

Abstract of a Report by the Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Malduh, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1881-82

THE number of certificates instituted for the collection of arrears together with the 73 pending cases of the previous year, came up to 549. Of these, in 496 cases demands were fully satisfied, leaving only 53 cases pending at the close of the year. The total cess collections during the year amounted to Rs. 26,211, and the outstanding arrears at the close of the year were Rs. 1,574

Eight meetings of the District Road Committee were held during the year, and all were presided over by the Chairman. A quorum was present in every case. Several members of the Committee have given much assistance in superintending the repairs of roads in their respective neighbourhoods.

The works are generally executed on the piece-work system, and, except under special circumstances, no important work is undertaken by departmental agency, general contractors not being available in the district.

The several establishments under the Road Committee are reported to have worked well throughout the year.

No 312PW, dated Bhagulpore, the 11th March 1883

From—G. N. BARLOW, Esq., C.S.I., Commissioner of the Bhagulpore Division and Sonthal Pergunnahs,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

I HAVE the honour to submit the annual accounts and reports of the District Road Committees for all the districts in this division for the cess year 1881-82.

2. Those from the Monghyr Committee were not submitted until the 31st January 1883. The accounts from the Maldah Committee were received on the 5th February 1883, but the report not until the 2nd March. Those from other districts were submitted in good time.

3. Percentage of collections.—The percentage of collections in the five districts are—

Bhagulpore	...	... 97·87
Monghyr	...	... 97·4
Purneah	...	... 85·20 (some advance collections made in 1880-81)
Maldah	...	... 105·7 (some advance collections made)
Sonthal Pergunnahs		... No road cess.

4. The benefit of improved communications and of repairs to all roads being now systematically done every year during or after the rains is being appreciated by the cess payers, and the reports from every district corroborate this. The Act has worked well and smoothly.

5. Attendance.—The average attendance of members of the District Committees has been fair considering the difficulty members living north of the Ganges have in attending at Monghyr and Bhagulpore. The Committees are reported to take an interest in the district work, and much aid is afforded by many of them undertaking the repairs of road in the portion of the district they reside in. The number of members not attending any meeting is small.

6. The Branch Committees are reported to have worked well, and to have shewn an improvement over former years. The number of meetings held seems to me too small, averaging from five to six in the year: all members of Branch Committees live within a reasonable distance of the civil sub-division, and there should be no difficulty in having meetings once a month; the few meetings held shew that the work was practically carried out by the Chairman.

7. General state of roads.—There can be no doubt about the improvement that is yearly taking place; more system is observed in repairs to all district roads; new works are put in hand more promptly; and the style of work is reported by the Divisional Superintendent to be much superior to what was done in former years; while the organization was still imperfect. All the roads on the Committee's list have had money allotted for repairs sufficient to keep them in fair passable order, and in most cases, as well to affect substantial improvement to the embankments and bridges: though in some, especially in Bhagulpore and Purneah, it will be a work of time to renew or replace all the existing temporary timber bridges, and a certain number of these can only be taken in hand each year. I have from the beginning most strongly pressed upon the attention of Committees the necessity of having repairs to all roads done during the rains, or as early as possible afterwards, as being the work of primary importance to the district and cess payers; and from the reports received I can state this is now generally the case. There is probably nothing which has and will bring home to the ryots so practically as this the fact that they reap some advantage from the cess raised from them.

8. Original works, Monghyr.—One mile of the Sungrampore to Sultangunge railway station road has been metalled, making up four miles of metalled road from the station.

The bridging of the road from Sheikpoora to Shikarpore has been completed up to the Gya boundary. The bridging of the following roads was commenced and nearly completed.—

	Miles.
Secundra to Shikarpore	17
Shikarpore to Ramghur (near Luckeserai railway station) ...	13

A causeway over the "Mun" river at Khurruckpore has been constructed, and is most serviceable. In the north, three miles of the Khagaria bazar roads have been metalled.

Additional waterway has also been given to several roads in the south of the district; altogether 1,731 running feet of masonry bridging was completed or put in hand.

Surveys have been completed and estimates prepared for many important works in the north of the district.

9. Original work, Bhagulpore.—The metalling of a portion of the Bhagulpore and Soori road from Bhowsi, 32nd mile, to the Sonthal Pergunnahs, 42nd mile, has absorbed most of the allotment for original works, the only other original works of any importance done have been bridging of the road six miles from Barahat to Peerpointee railway station.

Construction of a causeway over a big stream in the 32nd mile, Bhagulpore and Soori road.

Completion of the cross road (bridged and raised) from Banka civil sub-division station to the Bhagulpore and Soori road, five miles.

Two small inspection bungalows have also been built.

10. Original works, Purneah.—The only works of any importance carried out during the year have been the completion and reconstruction of road No. 5—the main road to the north from Purneah Ten miles of a diversion has been completed; bridges over the only two unbridged openings, aggregating 180 running feet, have been constructed; and nearly one mile of metalling near the native town of Purneah has been laid down

Road No 27, Kaleegunge to Illabassee, in the north of the district, has been bridged. Timber bridges aggregating 200 running feet having been constructed. In this district the completion of bridging of existing roads is required before any new roads can be undertaken, and all projects in progress or anticipated are for this purpose.

11 Original works, Sonthal Pergunnahs.—Funds have not allowed of much being spent under this head One bridge of four spans of 15 feet has been built on the road between Nya Doomka and Soori, and a large bridge of 18 spans of 12½ on the railway feeder road to Pakour railway station, which had piers and abutments built many years ago, has been arched over (this comes nominally only under the head of repairs).

A bridge of two spans of about six feet has been constructed on the Godda and Punjwara road; this leaves only one stream unbridged on this road, which is an important one

12. Original works, Maldah.—No original works of any consequence have been undertaken owing to want of funds. Much delay has taken place in submitting even a rough project for the most urgent work, i. e Maldah and Rajmehal road.

13. Repairs.—The reports from all districts are satisfactory, and generally the roads in all the districts are well attended to and in good or fair passable order for traffic; sufficient allotments have everywhere been made for the necessary surface repairs and maintenance of existing bridges, except where these need reconstruction, for which sufficient funds are not available in all cases.

14. Planting trees, Monghyr.—In Monghyr a considerable allotment has been made for this purpose, and 45 miles of road have been planted out by contract; it is reported a success, but it is too soon to be sure of this. The trees planted out are too young and are very insufficiently protected In all other districts the contract system for this work has failed. A good deal has also been done in protecting the remaining trees out of those planted some years ago and not attended to.

15. Planting trees, Bhagulpore.—In Bhagulpore there are now 51 miles of trees planted and maintained; and these are most carefully attended to and are strong and flourishing. About three miles have been planted out during the year; for this the Committee have allotted but little, not wishing to incur further expenditure until a proportion of those planted require no further expense in maintenance.

16. Planting trees, Purneah.—In Purneah tree-planting is not a success, and those planted are, as a rule, not making much progress. Allotments for this reason are confined chiefly to maintenance of existing trees planted out; the roads generally are too narrow for trees to be planted on the bank; if planted below they get waterlodged when the country is submerged in the rains, and where this is not the case, the soil is sandy and poor; the herds of cattle which roam almost at large in this district as soon as crops are cut do much damage which cannot easily be prevented

17. Planting trees, Sonthal Pergunnahs.—About 70 miles of roads have been planted out, and funds will not allow of further planting out for some years. The tree-planting in this district has been generally most successful, and the result of careful attention has been that the young trees are nearly everywhere strong and vigorous.

18. Planting trees, Maldah.—Three miles of trees formerly planted have been maintained. In this district, a great portion of which is submerged in the rains, or covered with jungle; not much can be expected under this head.

19 Establishment.—The only change during the year has been at Maldah, where the District Engineer, Baboo Jogendro Nath Ghose, resigned in June 1882, and Baboo Jogendro Nath Ghose was appointed in his place.

20. In the other districts the District Engineers are reported well of, and have given satisfaction to the Committees, and the Divisional Superintendent's reports are most satisfactory as regards the good quality of all works done by them.

21. Village roads.—Considerable allotments have been made to Branch Committees for this purpose in Monghyr, Purneah, and Bhagulpore, and the amounts have generally been fully utilized. In Bhagulpore the Banka Branch Committee have been relieved of some roads by the District Committee, leaving them more money for purely village roads. In Purneah many surface roads are kept up by the District Committee, which, in other districts, would fall upon funds of Branch Committees. In Maldah there are no Branch Committees, and the village roads are maintained by the various residents in the districts, who have sums allotted to them for this purpose, notably by Messrs. Rally, Herman, Sanpin, and Walton. Some few of the smaller village roads have not been repaired in consequence of allotments made for them being transferred to more urgent works.

22. Receipts and expenditure abstracts.—Abstracts are attached giving the totals of receipts and expenditure in this division, the same shewing details under the various heads, the expenditure on village roads, and the balance in hand at the close of the cess year.
